Writer's Survival Guide John McNally, 2010-04-15 I write this blurb in distress because for years I've been stealing John McNally's sharp insights into writing and publishing and passing them off as my own Now this generous so and so is sharing his vast experience as a writer and editor with everyone Worse yet this book despite its instructional value is irresistibly un-put-downably readable Timothy Schaffert author Devils in the Sugar Shop The Writer's Directory, 1998-2000 Miranda last a definitive practical handbook on the craft of fiction by an author who has been both a highly successful writing teacher and a novelist Malcolm McConnell goes directly to the actual craft of drafting and redrafting using student drafts as models and teaching aids The building blocks of fiction are demonstrated in action character setting point of view dialogue as well as the nuts and bolts problems of notetaking outlining and building effective metaphor and narrative pace Norton's Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular ,1851 Constructing Rhetorical Education Davida Charney, Wilma R.

Ebbitt, 1992 In nineteen essays illustrating its many aspects this book offers an argument for what it takes to construct a complete rhetorical education The editors take an approach that is pragmatic and pluralistic based as it is on the assumptions that a rhetorical education is not limited to teaching freshman composition or any specific writing course and that the contexts in which such an education occurs are not limited to classrooms This thought provoking volume stresses that while a rhetorical education results in the growth of writing skills its larger goal is to foster critical thinking Building provides a unique look into the processes of building genre knowledge while offering a dynamic theory of those processes that is inclusive of both monolingual and multilingual writers a necessary move in today's linguistically diverse classrooms It will therefore be of great interest to researchers and practitioners in both first and second language writing studies
