The Medieval Christian Philosophers Richard Cross,2013-11-19 The High Middle Ages were remarkable for their coherent sense of Christendom of people who belonged to a homogeneous Christian society marked by uniform rituals of birth and death and worship That uniformity which came under increasing strain as national European characteristics became more pronounced achieved perhaps its most perfect intellectual expression in the thought of the western Christian thinkers who are sometimes called scholastic theologians These philosophers produced during roughly the period 1050 1350 CE a cohesive body of work from their practice of theology as an academic discipline in the university faculties of their day Richard Cross elegant and stylish textbook designed specifically for modern day undergraduate use on medieval theology and philosophy courses offers the first focused introduction to these thinkers based on the individuals themselves and their central preoccupations The book discusses influential figures like Abelard Peter Lombard and Hugh of St Victor the use made by Aquinas of Aristotle the mystical theology of Bonaventure Robert Grosseteste s and Roger Bacon s interest in optics the complex metaphysics of Duns Scotus and the political thought of Marsilius of Padua and William of Ockham Key themes of medieval theology including famous axioms like Ockham s Razor are here made fully intelligible and transparent

The Germanization of Early Medieval Christianity James C. Russell,1996-06-20 While historians of Christianity have generally acknowledged some degree of Germanic influence in the development of early medieval Christianity Russell goes further arguing for a fundamental Germanic reinterpretation of Christianity This first full scale treatment of the subject follows a truly interdisciplinary approach applying to the early medieval period a sociohistorical method similar to that which has already proven fruitful in explicating the history of Early Christianity and Late Antiquity The encounter of the Germanic peoples with Christianity is studied from within the larger context of the encounter of a predominantly world accepting Indo European folk religiosity with predominantly world rejecting religious movements While the first part of the book develops a general model of religious transformation for such encounters the second part applies this model to the Germano Christian scenario Russell shows how a Christian missionary policy of temporary accommodation inadvertently contributed to a reciprocal Germanization of Christianity
