advancements in modern linguistics in particular the context of situation and then connects these topics to the social situation addressed in Hebrews In so doing he is able to reveal how the author is responding to the reality of suffering in the lives of his audience With this awareness it becomes clear how the author also responds to his audience's pain by creating models of endurance in suffering and death These serve to motivate his audience toward similar endurance within their own social context Dyer shows that it is possible to make significant determinations about the social setting of Hebrews based upon an examination and analysis of the language used therein Clothing the Body of Christ at Colossae Rosemary Canavan, 2012 What we think of our bodies and what we wear says something about who we are and how we belong This was the same in the ancient world Rosemary Canavan explores the imagery of clothing and body in the first century CE Christian writing An examination of statuary funerary monuments and coins in this geographical location contemporaneous with the letter's writing reveals how clothing and body images were understood This is then placed in dialogue with the metaphorical use of clothing and body in other texts especially the Letter to the Colossians Social identity and rhetorical studies draw on archaeological epigraphical iconographical and literary sources to formulate a new approach to biblical interpretation aptly named visual exegesis Matthew's Parable of the Royal Wedding Feast Ruth Christa Mathieson, 2023-06-02 Ruth Christa Mathieson's unique reading of Matthew's parable of the royal wedding feast Matt 22:1-14 which concludes with the king's demand that one of the guests be bound and cast out into the outer darkness focuses on the means of the underdressed guest's expulsion Using sociorhetorical interpretation Mathieson draws the parable into conversation with early Jewish narratives of the angel Raphael binding hands and feet 1 Enoch Tobit and the protocol for expelling individuals from the community in Matt 18 She asserts that readers are invited to consider if the person who is bound and cast out is a danger to the little ones of the community of faith unless removed and restrained *C.
