Radical Inequalities Nara Dillon, 2020-05-11 The Chinese Communist welfare state was established with the goal of eradicating income inequality But paradoxically it actually widened the income gap undermining one of the most important objectives of Mao Zedong's revolution Nara Dillon traces the origins of the Chinese welfare state from the 1940s through the 1960s when such inequalities emerged and were institutionalized to uncover the reasons why the state failed to achieve this goal Using newly available archival sources Dillon focuses on the contradictory role played by labor in the development of the Chinese welfare state At first the mobilization of labor helped found a welfare state but soon labor's privileges turned into obstacles to the expansion of welfare to cover more of the poor Under the tight economic constraints of the time small temporary differences evolved into large entrenched inequalities Placing these developments in the context of the globalization of the welfare state Dillon focuses on the mismatch between welfare policies originally designed for European economies and the very different conditions found in revolutionary China Because most developing countries faced similar constraints the Chinese case provides insight into the development of narrow unequal welfare states across much of the developing world in the postwar period

Grassroots Social Security in Asia James Midgley, Mitsuhiro Hosaka, 2011-03-17 Grassroots Social Security in Asia investigates the role of mutual associations in providing income protection to low income people in Asia and in particular the region's developing countries. Historically these associations have consisted of small groups of people with common interests who save regularly to support, maintain and supplement their incomes. Members make regular contributions to a communal fund which is used to provide income protection when they experience financial hardship. This book is the first to comprehensively document the activities of mutual associations and their microinsurance programs in Asia where these programs are especially well developed. It provides a number of important case studies that provide detailed information about mutual associations in different parts of the region covering South Asia, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Mongolia, Indonesia and the Philippines. The case studies offer important insights into the potential of mutual associations to offer effective income protection and how their activities can contribute to the formulation of comprehensive and effective grassroots social security strategies in the developing world that make a tangible contribution to the goal of poverty eradication and the improvement of standards of living. This book will be of interest to policy makers, academics and students in the fields of Asian studies, Social security studies and development studies.

Social Protection in Southern Africa Leila Patel, 2017-07-05. A new generation of innovative social protection strategies is emerging in southern Africa. Although cash transfers are most prevalent, some country strategies include combinations of interventions such as food, livelihood inputs and support, asset building, public works and social services. The strategies vary in their commitment to social rights, their institutional and funding arrangements, the reach, scope and design of the programmes and the behavioural conditions attached to grant access. The proliferation of national social protection in the Global South has been widely supported by governments, international agencies and non-governmental organisations (NGOs). This book offers researchers and policymakers much to think about when considering the rapid growth of social protection in southern Africa, the challenges this presents and the opportunities it offers for social development and economic growth. Hence the book is a contribution to scholarship and policy debate on how to solve intractable social development problems in Africa and elsewhere. This book was originally published as a special issue of Development Southern Africa.

Between kinship and the state Franz Benda-Beckmann, Keebet Benda-Beckmann, 2019-10-08. No detailed description available for Between kinship and the state. Social Policies for the Elderly in the Third World Martin Tracy, 1991-01-30. This book introduces a problem solving model to cross national studies of social programs for the elderly in economically developing nations, the Third World, a term that is used here only as a designation of unspecified, relatively lower levels of industrial and economic development. Current models of cross national analysis tend to focus on theory testing and description; they fail to provide the practical information that indigenous policymakers need to decide whether another nation's policy, program or provision is appropriate to their own country. On Freedom Eileen Barker, 2021-12-24.
