Commodities in Victorian Domestic Novels reveals how Indian imports encapsulated new ideas about both the home and the world in Victorian literature and culture In novels by Charlotte Bront Charles Dickens and Anthony Trollope the regularity with which Indian commodities appear bespeaks their burgeoning importance both ideologically and commercially Such domestic details as the drinking of tea and the giving of shawls as gifts point us toward suppressed connections between the feminized realm of private life and the militarized realm of foreign commerce Tracing the history of Indian imports yields a record of the struggles for territory and political power that marked the coming into being of British India reading the novels of the period for the ways in which they infuse meaning into these imports demonstrates how imperialism was written into the fabric of everyday life in nineteenth century England Situated at the intersection of Victorian studies material cultural studies gender studies and British Empire studies The Empire Inside is written for academics graduate students and advanced undergraduates in all of these fields Suzanne Daly is Associate Professor of English University of Massachusetts Amherst
