The Material Culture of Basketry Stephanie Bunn,Victoria Mitchell,2020-10-29 The Material Culture of Basketry celebrates basketry as a culturally significant skilled practice and as a theoretically rich discipline which has much to offer contemporary society While sometimes understudied and underappreciated it has much in common with mathematics and engineering art craft and design and can also act as a socially beneficial source of skill and care Contributors show how local knowledge of materials plants and place are central to the craft Case studies include the skill in weaverbird nest building challenging how we perceive learning in craft and nature an engineer s perspective on twining Peruvian grass bridges and the local knowledge embodied in Pacific plaited patterns and knots Photo essays explore materials and techniques from the point of view of artists anthropologists and mathematicians revealing how the structure and skill in basketwork illustrate a significant form of textile technology Thus the book argues that the textures patterns and geometric forms that emerge through basketwork reflect an embodied knowledge which expresses mathematical and engineering comprehension The therapeutic value of the craft is recognised through a selection of case studies which consider basketry as a healing process for patients with brain injury mental health problems and as a memory aid for people living with dementia This reclaims basketry s significant role in occupational therapy as an agent of recovery and well being Finally basketry s inherently sustainable nature is also considered demonstrating the continuation of basketry in spite of handwork s general decline and profiling new and recycled materials Above all the book envisages basketry as an intellectually rewarding means of knowing It presents the craft as embodying care for skilled making and for the social and natural environments in which it flourishes

Wild Basketry Ruby Taylor, 2025-05-08 A makers guide to sourcing and harvesting foraged plants to make natural cordage and baskets Making with our hands is a fundamental human activity connection with the natural world and the feeling of belonging to place are basic human needs A counterbalance to our digitalised lives is the wish to connect with the simple joy and satisfaction of creating beautiful and useful objects tapping into ancestral skills and wisdom and taking care of our world by reducing our ecological impact Wild Basketry brings all this together in a rich combination of reflection and practical guide Beautiful photographs take you through a seasonal year of seven basketry and cordage projects suitable for beginners as well as for those wishing to expand their basketmaking skills Ruby Taylor guides you through each step following a range of techniques with suggestions for further exploration to give you a thorough grounding in the fundamentals of the craft Guidance on the principles of harvesting and processing plant fibres and contextual information about the evolution of basketry are covered throughout the book along with spotlights on several inspiring international artists

Technology as Human Social Tradition Peter Jordan, 2014-11-06 This book examines three interlocking topics that are central to all archaeological and anthropological inquiry the role of technology in human existence the reproduction of social traditions the factors that generate cultural diversity and change The overall aim is to outline a new kind of approach for researching variability and transformation in human material culture and the main argument is that these technological traditions exhibit heritable continuity they consist of information stored in human brains and then passed onto others through social learning Technological traditions can therefore be understood as manifestations of a complex transmission system and applying this new perspective to human material culture builds on but also largely transcends much of the earlier work conducted by archaeologists and anthropologists into the significance function and social meanings associated with tools objects and vernacular architecture
