Blood River Tim Butcher, 2009-09-15 A British journalist retraces the legendary 1874 expedition of H M Stanley in this remarkable marriage of travelogue and history Max Hastings author of Armageddon When Daily Telegraph correspondent Tim Butcher was sent to Africa in 2000 he quickly became obsessed with the Congo River and the idea of recreating H M Stanley s nineteenth century journey along the nearly three thousand mile waterway Despite repeated warnings that his plan was suicidal Butcher set out for the Congo s eastern border with just a backpack and a few thousand dollars hidden in his boots Making his way in an assortment of vehicles including a motorbike and a dugout canoe helped along by a cast of characters from UN aid workers to a pygmy rights advocate he follows in the footsteps of the great Victorian adventurer Butcher s forty four day journey along the Congo River is an unforgettable story of exploration survival and history come to life Quite superb a masterpiece John le Carr 1 New York Times bestselling author Do NOT try to repeat Tim Butcher s audacious and terrifying Congo journey If you do you will probably die The Guardian Blood River keeps the heart beating and the attention fixed from beginning to end Fergal Keane international bestselling author of Wounds It is the wit and passion of the writing that keeps you engrossed Giles Foden author of The Last King of Scotland London Calling Rob Nixon, 1992-02-27 V S Naipaul stands as the most lionized literary mediator between First and Third World experience and is ordinarily viewed as possessing a unique authority on the subject of cross cultural relations in the post colonial era In contesting this orthodox reading of his work Nixon argues that Naipaul is more than simply an unduly influential writer He has become a regressive Western institution articulating a set of values that perpetuates political interests and representational modes that have their origin in the high imperial age Nixon uses Naipaul s travel writing to probe the core theoretical issues raised by cross cultural representation along metropolitan periphery lines With reference to economic theories of dependency he critiques the vision popularized by Naipaul of the post colonial world as divided between mimic and parasitic Third World nations on the one hand and on the other the benignly creative societies of the West
