Teaching Academic Writing in UK Higher Education Lisa Ganobcsik-Williams, 2017-09-16 Academic Writing is emerging as a distinct subject for teaching and research in higher education in the UK and elsewhere Teaching Academic Writing in UK Higher Education introduces this growing field and provides a resource for university teachers researchers and administrators interested in developing students writing

Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works

Teaching L2 Composition Dana R. Ferris, John Hedgcock, 2013-10-01 This popular comprehensive theory to practice text is designed to help teachers understand the task of writing L2 writers the different pedagogical models used in current composition teaching and reading writing connections Moving from general themes to specific pedagogical concerns it includes practice oriented chapters on the role of genre task construction course and lesson design writing assessment feedback error treatment and classroom language grammar vocabulary style instruction Although all topics are firmly grounded in relevant research a distinguishing feature of the text is the array of hands on practical examples materials and tasks that pre and in service teachers can use to develop the complex skills involved in teaching second language writing Each chapter includes Questions for Reflection Further Reading and Resources Reflection and Review and Application Activities An ideal text for L2 teacher preparation courses courses that include both L1 and L2 students and workshops for instructors of L2 writers in academic secondary and postsecondary settings the accessible synthesis of theory and research enables readers to see the relevance of the field's knowledge base to their own present or future classroom settings and student writers

Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures David G. Nicholls, 2015-01-01 The third edition of the MLA's widely used Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures features sixteen new essays by leading scholars Designed to highlight relations among languages and forms of discourse the volume is organized into three sections Understanding Language provides an overview of the field of linguistics with special attention to language acquisition and the social life of languages Forming Texts offers tools for understanding how speakers and writers shape language it examines scholarship in the distinct but interrelated fields of rhetoric composition and poetics Reading Literature and Culture continues the work of the first two sections by introducing major areas of critical study The nine essays in this section cover textual and historical scholarship interpretation comparative cultural and translation studies and the interdisciplinary topics of gender sexuality race and migrations among others As in previous volumes an epilogue examines the role of the scholar in contemporary society Each essay discusses the significance underlying assumptions and limits of an important field of inquiry traces the historical development of its subject introduces key terms outlines modes of research now being pursued postulates future developments and provides a list of suggestions for further reading This book will interest any member of the academic community seeking a review of recent scholarship while it provides an indispensable resource for undergraduate and graduate students of modern languages and literatures Composition Studies in the New Millennium Lynn Z.

Bloom,Donald A. Daiker,Edward Michael White,2003 Literacy in Practice Patrick Thomas,Pamela Takayoshi,2015-11-19 The rise of New Literacy Studies and the shift from studying reading and writing as a technical process to examining situated literacies what people do with literacy in particular social situations has focused attention toward understanding the connections between reading and writing practices and the broader social goals and cultural practices these literacy practices help to shape This collection brings together situated research studies of literacy across a range of specific contexts covering everyday educational and workplace domains Its contribution is to provide through an empirical framework a larger cumulative understanding of literacy across diverse contexts Encyclopedia of Language and Education G. Richard Tucker,P. Corson,2013-11-01 In many parts of the world it is common for a child to grow up speaking a local language at home another in the market place adding another to her repertoire as a lingua franca and then adding a language of wider communication such as English or French if she continues her formal schooling The contributions to the volume examine in some detail diverse aspects of second language education ranging from a focus on the basic contributions of linguistic theory and research to our understanding of second language learning and teaching on the one hand to a series of reviews of innovative language education practices in selected regions of the world on the other For the purposes of this volume second language education has been defined operationally to encompass education which occurs in those settings and situations in which a dominant language is offered as a second language e g ESL in England or the United States whether as a subject of study or a vehicle through which other material is studied as well as those cases in which an official but not necessarily dominant language is mandated e g French or English in certain parts of the Middle East or the Mahgreb The contributions also focus mainly albeit not exclusively on second language education for school aged learners Second Language Education David Corson,G. Richard Tucker,P. Corson,1999-05-31 The contributions to the volume examine in detail diverse aspects of second language education ranging from a focus on the basic contributions of linguistic theory and research to our understanding of second language learning and teaching on the one hand to a series of reviews of innovative language education practices in selected regions of the world on the other Second Language Education G. Richard Tucker,David Corson,1997 The contributions to the volume examine in detail diverse aspects of second language education ranging from a focus on the basic contributions of linguistic theory and research to our understanding of second language learning and teaching on the one hand to a series of reviews of innovative language education practices in selected regions of the world on the other Students Writing in the University Carys Jones, Joan Turner, Brian Street, 2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge Second Language Writing Ken Hyland, 2019-07-04 Provides an accessible comprehensive and practical introduction to current theory and research in second language writing and their classroom applications Notes on the Heart Susan H. McLeod, 1997 In this book McLeod follows a group of students through a semester of writing assignments tracking the students progress and examining the affective elements relevant to their writing To facilitate future discussion of these phenomena McLeod also provides suggested definitions for terms in the affective domain Putting Writing Research into Practice Gary A. Troia, Rebecca K. Shankland, Anne Heintz, 2010-04-29 What are the most effective methods for teaching writing across grade levels and student populations What kind of training do teachers need to put research validated methods into practice This unique volume combines the latest writing research with clear cut recommendations for designing high quality professional development efforts Prominent authorities describe ways to help teachers succeed by using peer coaching cross disciplinary collaboration lesson study and other professional development models All aspects of instruction and assessment are addressed including high stakes writing assessments applications of technology motivational issues writing in different genres and subject areas and teaching struggling writers International Handbook of Research in Arts Education Liora Bresler, 2007-03-05 Providing a distillation of knowledge in the various disciplines of arts education dance drama music literature and poetry and visual arts this essential handbook synthesizes existing research literature reflects on the past and contributes to shaping the future of the respective and integrated disciplines of arts education While research can at times seem distant from practice the Handbook aims to maintain connection with the live practice of art and of education capturing the vibrancy and best thinking in the field of theory and practice The Handbook is organized into 13 sections each focusing on a major area or issue in arts education research Situating Composition Ede, Lisa, 2004 Responding to a growing pedagogical paralysis in debates over the nature and status of composition studies as an academic discipline Lisa Ede offers a provocative inquiry into the politics of composition's place in the academy. The result is a timely and engaging reflection on the rhetoric, ideology, and ethics of scholarship and instruction in composition studies today. Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts Douglas Fisher, Diane Lapp, 2023-12-22. Now in its fifth edition, the Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts, sponsored by the International Literacy Association and the National Council of Teachers of English, remains at the forefront in bringing together prominent scholars, researchers, and professional leaders to offer an integrated perspective on teaching the English language arts and a comprehensive overview of research in the field. Reflecting important developments since the publication of the fourth edition in 2017, this new edition is streamlined and completely restructured around big ideas in the field related to theoretical and research foundations, learners in context, and new literacies. Addressing all the language arts within a holistic perspective—speaking, listening, viewing, language, writing, reading—it covers new and important topics such as online learning, multimodalities, culturally responsive learning, and more. A Teaching Subject Joseph Harris, 2012-01-01. In this classic text, Joseph Harris traces the evolution of college writing instruction since the Dartmouth Seminar of 1966. A Teaching Subject offers a brilliant interpretive history of the first decades during which writing studies came to be imagined as a discipline separable from its partners in English studies. Postscripts to each chapter in this new edition bring the history of composition up to the present. Reviewing the development of the field through five key ideas, Harris unfolds a set of issues and tensions that continue to shape the teaching of writing today. Ultimately, he builds a case, now deeply influential in its own right, that composition defines itself through its interest and investment in the literacy work that students and teachers do together. Unique among English studies fields, composition is, Harris contends, a teaching subject.
