Rewards to skill supply, skill demand and skill match-mismatch Richard Desjardins, 2014-03-28 This book is a collection of three independent but closely related studies. The focus is on the potential causes of skill mismatch, the extent of skill mismatch, the socio-demographic make up of skill mismatch, and the consequences of skill mismatch in terms of earnings, as well as employer-sponsored adult education training. A distinction is made between skill mismatch and education mismatch. All three studies use data from the Adult Literacy and Lifeskills Survey (ALLS) to investigate the relationships between select outcomes and skill supply/demand characteristics, as well as their interactions, which materialize into skill match/mismatch situations. The dataset contains direct measures of literacy skills, as well as measures of the use of these skills at work, which allow for a direct measure of literacy match/mismatch. The analysis points to the complex ways in which mismatch is generated and the need for an accurate and up-to-date measure of mismatch, one that reflects the possibilities for skill gain and skill loss over the lifespan and reflects differences in the quality of qualifications. It also emphasizes that addressing mismatch requires a careful consideration of both the demand and supply sides of the labour market, so as to understand better the variety of factors which may have a negative impact on the effectiveness of skill formation, skill maintenance, and also skill use. Among the key findings, Skill demand characteristics appear to be as important as skill supply characteristics in explaining observed variation in earnings. There is a substantive association between the requirement to read at work and earnings, which is independent of whether individuals have high or low levels of literacy proficiency. Premiums associated with literacy skills are strongest in occupation types where they are most relevant, but premiums associated with the requirement to use those skills are nevertheless found to be strong within all occupational groups. The requirement to read at work seems to have a strong association with the incidence of participation in employer-supported adult education training. This has important implications for understanding better the relationship between how work is organized and the decision to further invest in human capital.

FSpace Roleplaying Reference Manual v2.1 Gary Ammundsen, Robert Bettelheim, Richard Fields, David Hughes, Stephen Pritchard, Martin Rait, 2007 FSpaceRPG is a science fiction roleplaying game in the classic mould. In the late 22nd century, mankind expands into the stars only to find them in more turmoil than its own internal nationalism. Pitted against the onslaught of the expansion of the Stotatl Empire, humanity must defend itself while forging alliances with others who face absorption. Whether you're a Terran soldier or an Aronhi Warrior from the partially conquered Aronhi Empire, one goal stands supreme above all: survival. The wits and courage to stand and fight against superior odds and create victories from difficult situations. But not all the glory lies in the hands of warriors. Exploration of the vast wilderness that is space, charting dangers, finding resources, and contacting potential allies is a cornerstone of survival. The conflict, intrigue, action, and adventure of these times provide an exciting roleplaying environment for players, whether they like playing space marines, traders, spies, investigators, or just general adventure seekers. The span of events in reality are all possible giving a wide scope of play If you don't like flying around the cosmos as a British Royal Space Marine then you could always visit a primitive society and face the challenge of worlds filled with mystery fantasy and danger What you get The FSpaceRPG Reference Manual is a 133 page rulebook with a set of condensed rules designing for character generation and general play Ideal for players Conducting the Reference Interview, Third Edition Catherine Sheldrick Ross ,Kirsti Nilsen ,Marie L.
