Ancient Jewish Prayers and Emotions Stefan C. Reif, Renate Egger-Wenzel, 2015-11-13 Given the recent interest in the emotions presupposed in early religious literature it has been thought useful to examine in this volume how the Jews and early Christians expressed their feelings within the prayers recorded in some of their literature Specialists in their fields from academic institutions around the world have analysed important texts relating to this overall theme and to what is revealed with regard to such diverse topics as relations with God exegesis education prophecy linguistic expression feminism happiness grief cult suicide non Jews Hellenism Qumran and Jerusalem The texts discussed are in Greek Hebrew and Aramaic and are important for a scientific understanding of how Rabbinic Judaism and Early Christianity developed their approaches to worship to the construction of their theology and to the feelings that lay behind their religious ideas and practices The articles contribute significantly to an historical understanding of how Jews maintained their earlier traditions but also came to terms with the ideology of the dominant Hellenistic culture that surrounded them

Studies in Modern Theology Karl Rahner, 1965 Translated from the German

Karl Barth on Prayer Ashley Cocksworth, 2015-08-27 Ashley Cocksworth presents Karl Barth as a theologian who not only produces a strong and vibrant theology of prayer but also grounds theology itself in the practice of prayer Prayer and theology are revealed to be integrally related in Barth's understanding of the dogmatic task Cocksworth provides careful analysis of a range of key texts in Barth's thought in which the theme of prayer emerges with particular interest He analyzes Barth's writings on the Sabbath and uncovers an unexpected theology of contemplative prayer the doctrine of creation of the Church Dogmatics and explores its prioritization of petitionary prayer and the ethics of the doctrine of reconciliation in which a turn to invocation is charted and the final resting place of Barth's theology of prayer is found Through the theme of prayer fundamental questions are asked about the relation of human agency to divine agency as conceived by Barth and new insights are offered into his understandings of the nature and task of theology pneumatology sin baptism religion and sanctification The result is a rich engagement with Barth's theology of prayer an advancements of scholarship on Karl Barth and a constructive contribution to the theology of prayer

Freedom and Flourishing Robert Leigh, 2017-11-09 Freedom is vital both to Karl Barth's theology and to modern religion politics and culture Leigh describes how Barth's lifelong fascination by freedom culminated in a fresh daring engagement with it in his last completed book volume IV 3 of the massive Church Dogmatics which is probably the most important work of Christian theology in the twentieth century That volume builds on Barth's earlier work but also goes beyond it in ways that have not yet been appreciated Leigh shows how this mature theology of Barth not only responds profoundly to key questions about freedom both in philosophy and theology but also opens up a rich habitable understanding of Jesus Christ and of life in relationship with him that is prophetic for the twenty first century This involves a dynamic integration of knowing with being being with action truth with witness individual with community and divine initiative with human flourishing At the heart of this life with God is participation in the asymmetrical yet utterly reciprocal interaction between human beings and the God who loves them in freedom Leigh succeeds both in describing this participation convincingly and in demonstrating its provocative attractiveness

Karl Barth and the Future of Evangelical Theology Christian T Collins Winn, John L Drury, 2017-09-28 The theology of Karl Barth has often been a productive dialogue partner for evangelical theology but for too long the dialogue has been dominated by questions of orthodoxy Karl Barth and the Future of Evangelical Theology contributes to the conversation through a creative reconfiguration of both partners in the conversation neither of whom can be rightly understood as preservers of Protestant orthodoxy Rather American evangelicalism is identified with the revivalist forms of Protestantism that arose in the post Reformation era while Barth is revisited as a theologian attuned both to divine and human agency In the ensuing conversation questions of orthodoxy are not eliminated but subordinated to a concern for the life of God and God's people By offering an alternative to the dominant constraints this book opens up new avenues for fruitful conversation on Barth and the future of evangelical theology
