The Food Crisis In Prehistory Overpopulation And The Origins Of Agriculture:

The Food Crisis in Prehistory, 1977 Ancient Pakistan - An Archaeological History Mukhtar Ahmed, 2014-10-15 This book is the second volume of a much larger project Ancient Pakistan An Archaeological History which deals with the prehistory of Pakistan from the Stone Age to the end of the Indus Civilization ca 1500 BC This particular volume A Prelude to Civilization is concerned with the beginning of agriculture sedentary living and the emergence of village farming communities in the Greater Indus Valley leaving the reader at the threshold of the Harappan Civilization The material is generously illustrated with a large number of maps tables drawings and photographs A comprehensive bibliography is provided for those who want to dig deeper into the subject The Origins And Spread Of Agriculture And Pastoralism In Eurasia David R. Harris, 2024-11-01 As the first book to examine the origins and spread of agriculture and pastoralism in Europe and Asia as a whole this major contribution should be essential reading for archaeologists anthropologists biologists and geographers Adopting a novel approach to the subject the authors examine it first in terms of seven different disciplinary perspectives social ecological genetic linguistic biomolecular epidemiological and geographical Then 20 case studies are presented which are based primarily on archaeological and biological evidence and which relate to three major regions Southwest Asia Europe and Central Asia to the Pacific The book concludes with an overview of Eurasia as a whole The transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture had revolutionary consequences for human society It led to the emergence of urban civilizations and ultimately to humanity's almost complete dependence on relatively few domesticated animals and plants The subject has been much studied but the results have tended to be interpreted largely in terms of local cultural sequences with insufficient comparison made with evidence from other areas In contrast this book provides a continental scale framework with its scope extended to pastoralism because in Eurasia both the raising of livestock and the cultivation of crops were integral components of the agricultural revolution from its inception some 10 000 years ago Comprehensive and authoritative The Origins and Spread of Agriculture and Pastoralism in Eurasia should appeal strongly to the wide readership of students and specialists concerned with the prehistoric antecedents of modern civilization Mark Nathan Cohen, The Food Crisis in Prehistory Peter Dorner, 1977 The Cambridge History of the Native Peoples of the Americas Bruce G. Trigger, Wilcomb E. Washburn, Richard E. W. Adams, Frank Salomon, Stuart B. Schwartz, 1996 Library holds volume 2 part 2 only The Oxford Handbook of Food History Jeffrey M. Pilcher, 2012-10-16 Food matters not only as a subject of study in its own right but also as a medium for conveying critical messages about capitalism the environment and social inequality to diverse audiences Recent scholarship on the subject draws from both a pathbreaking body of secondary literature and an inexhaustible wealth of primary sources from ancient Chinese philosophical tracts to McDonald's menus contributing new perspectives to the historical study of food culture and society and challenging the limits of history itself The Oxford Handbook of Food History places existing works in historiographical context crossing disciplinary chronological and geographic boundaries while also suggesting new routes for future research The twenty seven essays in this book are organized into five sections historiography disciplinary approaches production circulation and consumption of food The first two sections examine the foundations of food history not only in relation to key developments in the discipline of history itself such as the French Annales school and the cultural turn but also in anthropology sociology geography pedagogy and the emerging Critical Nutrition Studies The following three sections sketch various trajectories of food as it travels from farm to table factory to eatery nature to society Each section balances material cultural and intellectual concerns whether juxtaposing questions of agriculture and the environment with the notion of cookbooks as historical documents early human migrations with modern culinary tourism or religious customs with social activism In its vast interdisciplinary scope this handbook brings students and scholars an authoritative guide to a field with fresh insights into one of the most fundamental human concerns

Out of Our Minds Felipe Fernández-Armesto, 2019-07-02 To imagine to see what is not there is the startling ability that has fueled human development and innovation through the centuries As a species we stand alone in our remarkable capacity to refashion the world after the picture in our minds Traversing the realms of science politics religion culture philosophy and history Felipe Fernández Armesto reveals the thrilling and disquieting tales of our imaginative leaps from the first Homo sapiens to the present day Through groundbreaking insights in cognitive science Fern ndez Armesto explores how and why we have ideas in the first place providing a tantalizing glimpse into who we are and what we might yet accomplish Unearthing and historical evidence he begins by reconstructing the thoughts of our Paleolithic ancestors to reveal the subtlety and profundity of the thinking of early humans A masterful paean to the human imagination from a wonderfully elegant thinker Out of Our Minds shows that bad ideas are often more influential than good ones that the oldest recoverable thoughts include some of the best that ideas of Western origin often issued from exchanges with the wider world and that the pace of innovative thinking is under threat

Anthropology and Contemporary Human Problems John H. Bodley, 2012-04-12 We live in a time of global mega problems of unsustainable growth and consumption resource depletion ecosystem degradation global warming escalating energy costs poverty and conflict Cultural anthropologist John H Bodley trenchantly critiques these most pressing issues and shows how anthropology makes it possible to find solutions The focus on culture scale suggests that many solutions may be found by developing local communities supported by regional markets and ecosystems rather than by making the continuous accumulation of financial capital the dominant cultural process throughout the world Now in its sixth edition this classic textbook continues to have tremendous relevance and is more timely than ever in light of the recent global economic crisis It exposes readers to the problems of a world out of balance with misdirected growth by the elite Bodley offers examples from prehistoric and modern tribal societies along side of ancient imperial and contemporary commercial societies Students will find this to be the trusted source to build a world view Anthropology and Contemporary Human Problems is ideal for adoption in anthropology and sociology courses on globalization cultural ecology social class and inequality the environment sustainability and development

The Sustainability and Development of Ancient Economies Clement A. Tisdell, Serge Svizzero, 2023-07-07 Drawing on modern economic theory this book provides new insights into the economic development of ancient economies and the sustainability of their development The book pays particular attention to the economics of hunting and gathering societies and their diversity New ideas are presented about theories of the transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture including Childe's theory of this development The Agricultural Revolution was a major contributor to economic development because in most cases it generated an economic surplus However as shown income inequality was a necessary condition for the use of this surplus to promote economic development and to avoid the Malthusian population trap This inequality was evident in the successful operation of the palatial economies of the Minoan and Mycenaean states

Nevertheless some post agricultural economies proved to be unsustainable and they mysteriously disappeared This happened in the case of the Silesian rice culture and population Economic and ecological reasons for this are suggested The nature of economic development altered with increased trade the use of barter and subsequently the supply of money to facilitate this trade These developments are examined in the context of the palatial economies of Mesopotamia and Egypt Elsewhere multinational business made a substantial contribution to the economic growth of Phoenicia where international trade was not determined by its natural resource endowments Thus Phoenician economic exchange and development provides a different set of insights The book makes an important contribution to the understanding of the evolution of human societies and will therefore be of interdisciplinary interest including economists especially economic historians anthropologists and sociologists some archaeologists and historians

Whose Hunger? Jenny Edkins, 2000 We see famine and look for the likely causes poor food distribution unstable regimes caprices of weather A technical problem we tell ourselves one that modern social and natural science will someday resolve To the contrary Jenny Edkins responds in this book Famine in the contemporary world is not the antithesis of modernity but its symptom A critical investigation of hunger famine and aid practices in international politics Whose Hunger shows how the forms and ideas of modernity frame our understanding of famine and consequently shape our responses

Disaster and Human History Benjamin Reilly, 2022-05-13 Human history is periodically punctuated by natural disasters from Vesuvius eruption to the modern day Covid 19 pandemic Volcanoes have buried entire cities earthquakes have reduced structures to smoldering ruins Floods and cyclones have wreaked havoc on river valleys and coastlines and desertification and climate change have weakened society's underpinnings Death tolls are often escalated by starvation and illness which frequently occur in tandem This second edition assesses natural disasters on human society and the effect of strategies developed to reduce their impact This book addresses the interconnectivity of disaster and human responsibility through 23 updated case studies including a new chapter on the 2011 T hoku tsunami and the ensuing Fukushima nuclear disaster
