The Future Of Maoism Translated By Norman Finkelstein:

The Emergence of Global Maoism Matthew Galway, 2022-03-15 The Emergence of Global Maoism examines the spread of Mao Zedong's writings, ideology and institutions when they traveled outside of China. Matthew Galway links Chinese Communist Party efforts to globalize Maoism to the dialectical engagement of exported Maoism by Cambodian Maoist intellectuals. How do ideas manifest outside of their place of origin? Galway analyzes how universal ideological systems became localized both in Mao's indigenization of Marxism-Leninism and in the Communist Party of Kampuchea's indigenization of Maoism into its own revolutionary ideology. By examining the intellectual journeys of CPK leaders who during their studies in Paris in the 1950s became progressive activist intellectuals and full-fledged Communists, he shows that they responded to political and socioeconomic crises by speaking back to Maoism, adapting it through practice without abandoning its universality. Among Mao's greatest achievements, the Sinification of Marxism enabled the CCP to canonize Mao's thought and export it to a progressive audience of international intellectuals. These intellectuals would come to embrace the ideology as they set a course for social change. The Emergence of Global Maoism illuminates the process through which China moved its goal from class revolution to a larger anticolonial project that sought to cast out European and American imperialism from Asia.

Dialectical Materialism Zedong Mao, Nick Knight, 2016-09-16 New and annotated translations of philosophical essays written by Mao Zedong in 1937, which have come to be regarded as a cornerstone in the development of Chinese Marxism. The editor analyzes their textual, philosophical and historical significance.

Reclaiming the Land Sam Moyo, Paris Yeros, 2013-07-04 Rural movements have recently emerged to become some of the most important social forces in opposition to neoliberalism. From Brazil and Mexico to Zimbabwe and the Philippines, rural movements of diverse political character but all sharing the same social basis of dispossessed peasants and unemployed workers have used land occupations and other tactics to confront the neoliberal state. This volume brings together for the first time across three continents—Africa, Latin America and Asia—an intellectually consistent set of original investigations into this new generation of rural social movements. These country studies seek to identify their social composition, strategies, tactics and ideologies to assess their relations with other social actors, including political parties, urban social movements and international aid agencies and other institutions, and to examine their most common tactic, the land occupation, its origins, pace and patterns as well as the responses of governments and landowners. At a more fundamental level, this volume explores the ways in which two decades of neoliberal policy, including new land tenure arrangements intended to hasten the commodification of land and new land uses linked to global markets, have undermined the social reproduction of the rural labour force and created the conditions for popular resistance. The volume demonstrates the longer-term potential impact of these movements. In economic terms, they raise the possibility of tackling immiseration by means of the redistribution of land and the reorganisation of production on a more efficient and socially responsible basis And in political terms breaking the power of landowners and transnational capital with interests in land could ultimately open the way to an alternative pattern of capital accumulation and development

Global Capitalism and the Future of Agrarian Society Arif Dirlik, Alexander Woodside, Roxann Prazniak, 2015-11-17 This book offers historical and comparative analyses of changes in agrarian society forced by the globalization of capitalism and the implications of these changes for human welfare globally The book gives special attention to recent economic development and urbanization in the People's Republic of China which have had a major impact on contemporary transformations globally Case studies from South and Southeast Asia Africa and Latin America in turn place these transformations in a comparative global perspective The contributors include distinguished scholars from the UN PRC India Zimbabwe and Latin America who are also active in policy issues

Cities with Invisible Walls Kam Wing Chan, 1994 Most of the ancient walls surrounding China's cities have long since disintegrated but invisible walls legal restrictions separating the urban and rural populations continue to contain urbanization Kam Wing Chan examines how and why these bureaucratic walls were built during the early days of socialism and why they remain during the current reform period Dr Chan weaves together new empirical data and theory in this ground breaking analysis of China's urbanization policies under socialism He discredits the conventional wisdom that a low urban growth rate was the by product of Mao's rural biased policies and points instead to long term government efforts to promote industrialization while containing urban costs In the post Mao era city walls have only been strengthened as the government limits the costs of urbanization by refusing state subsidized benefits to many of the cities new migrants Dr Chan critiques this policy and looks ahead to predict the impact of economic growth on urban demographics in the next century

In Other Worlds Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, 2012-12-06 In this classic work Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak one of the leading and most influential cultural theorists working today analyzes the relationship between language women and culture in both Western and non Western contexts Developing an original integration of powerful contemporary methodologies deconstruction Marxism and feminism Spivak turns this new model on major debates in the study of literature and culture thus ensuring that In Other Worlds has become a valuable tool for studying our own and other worlds of culture and Beat the Holocaust Lawrence Swaim, 2015-10-30 Following on from the first two books in his Genesis Trilogy Lawrence Swaim tells the amazing stories of people who broke the trauma bond and created new lives for themselves Including among others Norman Finkelstein whose parents were both Holocaust survivors who broke free from the inter generational trauma in his family system by exposing extensive corruption in his community and in American society and by working for social justice in the Middle East Eric Lomax a former British soldier in the far east who broke free from his haunting traumatic memories by meeting and reconciling with the Japanese man who had tortured him fifty years before with the help of his brave and insightful wife Gerry Adams who together with his IRA and Sinn Fein comrades broke free of the trauma of Northern Ireland s civil war finally redeeming himself by questioning some of his own assumptions and then dedicating himself to achieving peace in the Good Friday Peace Agreement of 1998 This is a definitive book about personal struggle against traumatic memory but also about how trauma bonding operates in society It is the author s belief that unresolved feelings of psychological trauma are the wheelhouse of systemic evil whether of the dictator the demagogue or the criminal psychopath It is by manipulating shared traumatic memories that tyrants control people and get them to do terrible things they would never otherwise do Paperbound Books in Print ,1992 Aanwinstenlijst Centrale Bibliotheek Koninklijk

How Finkelstein Broke the Trauma Bond,
