The Forge Glows Red From Blacksmith To Revolutionary:

The Forge Glows Red Tom McEwen, 1974 The personal memoirs of Tom McEwen are a uniquely eloquent story of the path travelled by a destitute Scottish immigrant blacksmith who rose to become one of Canada's great labor and revolutionary figures His leadership during some of Canadian labor's most stirring days and mass movements of the 20s and 30s constitute an important part of our history too little told in the official histories They are at once a source of information for students scholars researchers and those engaged in the practical movement today for labor and socialism The author's own hope is that incomplete and wanting as these pages are they will nonetheless provide some inspiration to those young people seeking answers to the past so that they may better serve in the working class and revolutionary movement of today Publisher's description

Labour Goes to War Wendy Cuthbertson, 2012-06-15 During the Second World War the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Canada grew from a handful of members to more than a quarter million and from political insignificance to a position of influence in the emergence of the welfare state What was it about the good war that brought about this phenomenal growth Labour Goes to War analyzes the organizing strategies of the CIO during the war to show that both cultural and economic forces were at work Labour shortages gave workers greater power in the workplace and increased their militancy But workers' patriotism their ties to those on active service and allegiance to the people's war also contributed to the CIO's growth and to what it claimed for workers Drawing on a wealth of archival material Wendy Cuthbertson illuminates this complex wartime context She also shows how the complex often contradictory motives of workers during this period left the Canadian labour movement with an ambivalent progressive conservative legacy J.B.

Towards a Godless Dominion Elliot Hanowski, 2023-10-15 In recent surveys one in four Canadians say they have no religion A century ago Canada was widely considered to be a Christian nation and the vast majority of Canadians claimed they were devoutly religious But some were determined to resist In the 1920s and 30s groups of militant unbelievers formed across Canada to push back against the dominance of religion Towards a Godless Dominion explores both anti-religious activism and the organized opposition unbelievers faced from Christian Canada during the interwar period Despite Christianity's prominence anti religious ideas were propagated by lectures in theatres through newspapers and out on the streets Secularist groups in Montreal Toronto Winnipeg and Vancouver actively tried to win people away from religious belief In the first two cities they were met with stiff repression by the state which convicted unbelievers of blasphemous libel broke up their meetings and banned atheistic literature from circulating In the latter two cities unbelievers met social disapproval rather than official persecution Looking at interwar controversies around religion such as arguments about faith healing and fundamentalist campaigns against teaching evolution Elliot Hanowski shows how unbelievers were able to use these conflicts to get their skeptical message across to the public Challenging the stereotype of Canada as a tolerant secular nation Towards a Godless Dominion returns to a time when intolerant forms of Christianity ruled a country that was considered more religious than the United States

Capitalism and Colonialism: The Making of Modern Canada 1890-1960 Bryan D. Palmer, 2025-09-02 This second volume of Bryan Palmer's history of Canada covers 1890 to 1960 Weaving together themes that include business labour politics and social history this account brings the experiences of Indigenous peoples into the centre of the narrative Canada experienced extraordinary growth during these decades notably after the Second World War when many Canadians quickly became far better off Yet vast inequalities persisted Indigenous peoples experienced ongoing and often worsening deprivation and ordinary people saw little or no real improvement in their lives These realities set the stage for the interplay of reform resistance and reaction that followed after 1960 Palmer examines the continuing role of capitalism and colonialism in structuring Canada in the period between 1890 and 1960 from capital's conflicts and fragile ententes with labour to the struggles of Indigenous Peoples and francophone Canada and the changing role of Canadian capital internationally Relying on the work of scholars who have produced a vast academic literature on a wide range of topics in Canadian history Bryan Palmer offers a new history of Canada which reflects the knowledge and values of 21st century Canadians The Canadian Labour Movement: A Short History Craig Heron, 1996 The Canadian Labour Movement is a fascinating story that brings to life the working men and women who built Canada's unions This concise history recounts the story of Canadian labour from the nineteenth century to the present day First published in 1989 it has been updated to include new developments in the world of labour up to 1995 Heron depicts the major events and trends in labour's history and assesses the current state and

North America during a period of ideological tension and unprecedented material advance      Working People, Fifth Edition Desmond Morton, 1999-01-13 From the dock workers of Saint John in 1812 to teenage crews at McDonald s today Canada s trade union movement has a long exciting history Working People tells the story of the men and women in the labour movement in Canada and their struggle for security dignity and influence in our society Desmond Morton highlights the great events of labour history the 1902 meeting that enabled international unions to dominate Canadian unionism for seventy years the Winnipeg General Strike of 1919 and an obscure 1944 order in council that became the labour s charter of rights and freedoms He describes the romantic idealism of the Knights of Labor in the 1880s and looks at new model unions that used their members dues and savings to fight powerful employers Working People explores the clash between idealists who fought for socialism industrial democracy and equality for women and men and the realists who wrestled with the human realities of self interest prejudice and fear Morton tells us about Canadians who deserve to be better known Phillips Thompson Helena Gutteridge Lynn Williams Huguette Plamondon Mabel Marlowe Madeleine Parent and a hundred others whose struggle to reconcile idealism and reality shaped Canada more than they could ever know      Labour at the Lakehead Michel S. Beaulieu, 2011-05-07 In the early twentieth century the Canadian Lakehead was known as a breeding ground for revolution a place where harsh conditions in dockyards lumber mills and railway yards drove immigrants into radical labour politics This intensely engaging history reasserts Northwestern Ontario s rightful reputation as a birthplace of leftism in Canada by exposing the conditions that gave rise to an array of left wing organizations including the Communist Party the One Big Union and the Industrial Workers of the World Yet as Michel Beaulieu shows the circumstances and actions of Lakehead labour especially those related to ideology ethnicity and personality were complex they simultaneously empowered and fettered workers in their struggles against the shackles of capitalism Cultural ties helped bring left wing ideas to Canada but as each group developed a distinctive vocabulary of socialism Anglo Celtic workers defended their privileges against Finns Ukrainians and Italians At the Lakehead ethnic difference often outweighed class solidarity at the cost of a stronger labour movement for Canada      Joe Zuken, Citizen and Socialist Doug Smith, 1990-01-01 Acknowledgements Introduction 1 A Child of the North End 1912 1929 2 A Political Education 1929 1940 3 It Did Happen Here 1933 1940 4 The Defence of Canada 1940 1942 5 The School Board Years 1942 1962 6 The Cold War in Manitoba 1945 1962 7 A Shield for the Poor 1940 1986 8 A Communist at City Hall 1962 1971 9 The Unicity Years 1972 1983 Epilogue People Interviewed Bibliography Index      Canadian Bolsheviks Ian Angus, 2004 Canadian communism did not spring out of the ground suddenly at the end of World War I and it was not smuggled into the country by Russian agents The men and women who built the new movement were long time socialist and labour militants in Canada Inspired by the Russian Revolution and by their own experiences as leaders of the post war labour revolt in Canada they set about to create a new kind of party one that could lead the fight for workers power The new Communist Party formed between 1919 and 1921 quickly became the largest party
