series is taken from Mountaineering The essential skills for mountain walkers and climbers the definitive handbook for hill walkers climbers and mountaineers Essays on lone trips, mountain-craft and other hill topics Adam Watson,2016-05-04 This book begins with a thought provoking article now reprinted criticising the increasing influence of politically correct organisations and politicians who desire to control freewill and mountaineering Then comes a chapter with a critique of several writers on the Cairngorms in comparison with the original Seton Gordon After the author published a review in 1977 on The wildlife potential of the Cairngorms region he came under unwarranted attack by two influential private landowners who misrepresented what he wrote and even included a threat A wider public should be aware of this There follows an essay on biologist Professor Vero C Wynne Edwards and another on the history of the research station near Banchory established for studying at first red grouse and then ecological problems of mountain moorland woodland and fresh water The last chapter the most important one and occupying a third of the book gives the author s lifetime view of the value of lone trips in

Cairngorms area is arguably the most significant for nature conservation in the British Isles and contains its largest National Park In this book 35 authors drawing on published and unpublished sources present an up to date review of the area s natural features including plants animals habitats geology and landforms The review falls into three parts The first and largest part describes the area s rich diversity of nature with each chapter summarising recent research findings trends and conservation issues for a different landform habitat or species group The second part considers deer management recreation and projected climate change impacts Part three focuses on rare and threatened species and identifies areas and habitats rich in species for which the Cairngorms are nationally and internationally important A Progress in Mountaineering
