

The background of the slide is a medieval manuscript illustration. It depicts a castle with multiple towers and a central gatehouse, situated on a hill. The foreground is filled with dense, dark green foliage, possibly representing a forest or a garden. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. The overall style is characteristic of late 14th-century manuscript illumination.

A Companion to Old and Middle English Literature Laura Lambdin, Robert Thomas Lambdin, 2002-06-30 Old and Middle English literature can be obscure and challenging So too can the vast body of criticism it has elicited Yet the masters of medieval literature often drew on similar texts since imitation was admired For this reason recent scholarship has often focused on the importance of genre The genre in which a work was written can illuminate the author's intentions and the text's meaning Read in light of a genre's parameters a given work can be considered in relation to other works within the same category This reference is a comprehensive overview of Old and Middle English literature Chapters focus on particular genres such as Allegorical Verse Balladry Beast Fable Chronicle Debate Poetry Epic and Heroic Lyric Middle English Parody Burlesque Religious and Allegorical Verse and Romance Expert contributors define the primary characteristics of each genre and discuss relevant literary works Chapters provide extensive reviews of scholarship and close with detailed bibliographies A more thorough bibliography of major scholarly studies closes the book English Medieval Narrative in the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries Piero Boitani, 1986-07-31 In this detailed study of English narrative verse the author describes and analyses the undisputed masterpieces of narrative such as the works of the Gawain poet Langland Gower and Chaucer as well as anonymous romances and specimens of religious and comic narrative which form the background to more well known poems Chaucer's "art Poetical" Jörg O. Fichte, 1980 Ecofeminist Subjectivities L. Kordecki, 2011-10-10 This book analyzes the interaction between gender and species in Chaucer's poetry and strives to understand his adaptation of medieval discourse through an ecofeminist lens Works that either speak of animals or those with animals speaking give new insights into the medieval textual handling of the others of society Chaucer and Fame Isabel Davis, Catherine Nall, 2015

Fama or fame is a central concern of late medieval literature. Where fame came from, who deserved it, whether it was desirable, how it was acquired and kept were significant inquiries for a culture that relied extensively on personal credit and reputation. An interest in fame was not new, being inherited from the classical world but was renewed and rethought within the vernacular revolutions of the later Middle Ages. The work of Geoffrey Chaucer shows a preoccupation with ideas on the subject of fama, not only those received from the classical world but also those of his near contemporaries. Via an engagement with their texts, he aimed to negotiate a place for his own work in the literary canon, establishing fame as the subject site at which literary theory was contested and writerly reputation won. Chaucer's place in these negotiations was readily recognized in his aftermath as later writers adopted and reworked postures which Chaucer had struck in their own bids for literary place. This volume considers the debates on fama which were past, present and future to Chaucer, using his work as a centre point to investigate canon formation in European literature from the late Middle Ages and into the Early Modern period.
