Study Of Scottish Hermeneutical Method From John Knox To The Early Twentieth Century:

A Study of Scottish Hermeneutical Method from John Knox to the Early Twentieth Century Marc Clauson, 2004 This work examines the evolution of Scottish hermeneutical method from John Knox to the early 20th century showing how the method was transformed from a Primitivism a term borrowed from the history of ideas to historical consciousness as represented by the higher critical method This work examines the whole big picture of transformation based on the paradigm shift or presuppositions from the primitivism of John Knox and others to the Enlightenment based historical critical method The Oxford Handbook of the Early Modern Sermon Peter McCullough, Hugh Adlington, Emma Rhatigan, 2011-08-04 The Oxford Handbook of the Early Modern Sermon is the first book to survey this rich new field for both students and specialists It is divided into sections devoted to sermon composition delivery and reception sermons in Scotland Ireland and Wales English Sermons 1500 1660 and English Sermons 1660 1720 James Durham (1622-1658) Donald John MacLean, 2015-03-11 The free offer of the gospel has been a matter of significant debate within Reformed theology However despite this controversy Reformed theologians such as James Durham preached a gospel offer which was a sincere and free invitation from God to all to embrace Jesus Christ as Saviour This gospel offer expressed God's grace and goodness to all Donald MacLean argues that Durham's doctrinal position is representative of the Westminster Standards and embraced by his contemporaries and evidenced by the later disputes concerning the meaning of the teaching of the Westminster Confession of Faith The Promise of the Trinity B. Hoon Woo, 2018-09-10 The doctrine of the pactum salutis covenant of redemption offers the idea of a covenant between the very persons of the Trinity for the redemption of humanity The doctrine received most of its attention in seventeenth century Reformed theology and has been criticized and almost totally forgotten in dogmatics since the eighteenth century Most recent Reformed dogmatics tend to ignore the doctrine or disparage it from biblical trinitarian christological pneumatological and soteriological perspectives namely the doctrine lacks scriptural basis it is tritheistic it leads to subordination of the Son it omits the role of the Holy Spirit and it applies a deterministic idea for the Christian life The theologies of Witsius Owen Dickson Goodwin and Cocceius portray a very robust form of the doctrine Witsius argues with the help of a peculiar methodology of cross referencing and collation of related scriptural texts that the doctrine is firmly based on biblical exegesis that was passed on from the patristic era The doctrine formulated by Owen endorses the doctrines of inseparable operations and terminus operationis so as to give deep insight into the Trinity In Dickson's doctrine the Son's voluntary consent and obedience to the will of the Father are highly emphasized Likewise Goodwin's depiction of the Holy Spirit secures the divinity of the Spirit as well as his indispensable role for the transaction and accomplishment of the pactum The doctrine in the theology of Cocceius sheds much light on the vibrant dynamic of the Christian life in accordance with the ordo salutis The doctrine of the pactum salutis of the five Reformed theologians clearly shows that the doctrine is both promised and promising for theology and the life of faith Scottish Studies Review, 2005

An Ecological Theology Clifford C. Cain, 2009 This study examines the historical roots of hierarchical dualism the dominant attitude characterizing the Western approach toward nature which both separates humans from and elevates them above nature allowing for exploitation of resources
