what are they?

Self awareness skills are about knowing your feelings, thoughts, and what makes you, 'you.' When you have self awareness, you can better answer questions like 'How do I feel?' 'What do I like?' 'What do I dislike?' So, when you make good choices and understand why you feel the way you do, it's like having a map to your emotions and thoughts.

Self awareness skills enable children to understand and recognize their own emotions, thoughts, and values, and how they impact their behavior. This awareness is the foundation for social skills, empathy and understanding, and the ability to accurately assess their own strengths and weaknesses, which allows them to set goals.

PARENT EDUCATION LETTERS

Self awareness skills are challenging because they're fairly abstract. Areas of a child's brain are still developing, making it difficult for them to fully understand their own emotions and behaviors. Children are also naturally curious and may struggle to identify the difference between their feelings or actions. At times, it can be confusing to see the difference between what they think and what actually happens.
