Modern German Literature, Thought, and Culture Carolin Duttlinger, 2022-05-26 Attention is fundamental to how we experience reality and yet this notion has been understood and practised in very different ways across history This interdisciplinary study explores the dynamic relationship between attention and its supposed opposite distraction as it unfolds from the eighteenth century to the present day Its primary focus is on twentieth century Germany and Austria where matters of in attention gained a unique urgency during a period of social change and political crisis Building on Enlightenment practices of self observation nineteenth century Germany was the birthplace of experimental psychology a discipline which sought to measure and potentially enhance human attention This approach was also adopted outside the psychological laboratory for instance in the First World War when psychological testing was used to select soldiers for particular strategic positions After the war these techniques filtered through into everyday life Weimar Germany was unique in the western world in rolling out the methods of psychotechnics across civilian society in fields such as work and education advertising and mass entertainment This state sponsored programme aimed to reshape people s minds and behaviour in order to build a more efficient streamlined society But as this study shows this initiative also had profound repercussions in the fields of thought literature and culture New readings of leading writers and intellectuals of the period Kafka Musil Kracauer Benjamin and Adorno are interspersed with broader cultural historical chapters dedicated to the history of psychology and psychiatry to Weimar self help literature portrait photography and musical culture Simplified Practice

Recommendation, 1928 The Publishers Weekly, 1928 Monthly Bulletin St. Louis Public Library, 1927 Teachers bulletin vol 4 issued as part of v 23 no 9 Jung's Technique of Active Imagination and Desoille's Directed Waking Dream Method Laner Cassar, 2020-06-07 Jung s Technique of Active Imagination and Desoille s Directed Waking Dream

Method brings together Carl Jung's active imagination and Robert Desoille's reveill dirigé directed waking dream method RED. It studies the historical development of these approaches in Central Europe in the first half of the 20th century and explores their theoretical similarities and differences proposing an integrated framework of clinical practice. The book aims to study the wider European context of the 1900s which influenced the development of both Jung's and Desoille's methods. This work compares the spatial metaphors of interiority used by both Jung and Desoille to describe the traditional concept of inner psychic space in the waking dreams of Jung's active imagination and Desoille's RED. It also attempts a broader theoretical comparison between the procedural aspects of both RED and active imagination by identifying commonalities and divergences between the two approaches. This book is a unique contribution to analytical psychology and will be of great interest for academics, researchers and post graduate students interested in the use of imagination and mental imagery in analysis, psychotherapy and counselling. The book's historical focus will be of particular relevance to Jungian and Desoillian scholars since it is the first of its kind to trace the connections between the two schools and it gives a detailed account of Desoille's early life and his first written works. This book was a Grady Award nominee for 2021.

Edward Conze's The Psychology of Mass Propaganda Richard N. Levine, Nathan H. Levine, 2023-03-24

Edward Conze's The Psychology of Mass Propaganda presents a commentary on the psychology of propaganda during the rise of fascism in Europe in the 1930s. It discusses the conditions which generate vulnerability to misinformation in human societies and thus offers insight into how propaganda may be withstood. Completed in 1939 during the period of Conze's own inflection from Marxist philosophy to Buddhist studies, the original manuscript was never published and is now in print for the first time. Presenting a unique historical perspective while also appealing to an acutely topical interest in the conditions under which autocracy and fascism arise, the book examines the psychology of mass propaganda through copious contemporary and historical examples. Conze focuses especially on recent news articles and the statements of the propagandists of many of the governments that would go on to participate in the Second World War, including Germany, Italy, the USSR, USA and UK, all of which he interprets through the lens of recent psychological and historical research. The book has been edited and includes a new introduction by Richard N. Levine and Nathan H. Levine, also featuring a foreword by American legal scholar Laurence H. Tribe and an afterword by actor, director, writer and Buddhist priest Peter Coyote. This is a fascinating opportunity for scholars across several disciplines, including political scientists and psychologists, historians and sociologists, to access one of Conze's previously unpublished works. It will also be of importance to those interested in Conze's work on Buddhist philosophy and in the psychology of propaganda more broadly.
