of time in fifteenth century literary culture focusing on poems of John Lydgate and Thomas Hoccleve Karen Smyth begins with an overview of medieval time keeping devices and considers collective and individual attitudes and perceptions of time She then examines a range of Middle English authors appropriations and innovations in relation to such perceptions identifying competitions of tradition and innovation allowing for an interrogation of commonly accepted medieval theories of time An empirically based morphology emerges and is used to examine narratives of time in Lydgate and Hoccleve s work Through a series of close readings of selected short poems and Lydgate s Troy Book Fall of Princes and Siege of Thebes and of Hoccleve s Regiments of Princes and Series Karen Smyth looks at expressions of time and examples of the authors negotiation of time consciousness illustrating how both poets manipulate a range of cultural narratives of time in order to create multiple and sometimes competing temporalities within a single poem Smyth simultaneously draws attention to Lydgate s and Hoccleve s underestimated artistic skills and lays out a means to re evaluate medieval cultural attitudes towards time
