

Sun Protection Policy Guidelines for Schools

Summer is back after long holidays, parties, swimming and outdoor time. Children may see the sun every day, so it's important to take a closer look at how to protect them. Sun protection is important for everyone, but it's especially important for children. Sun protection is important for everyone, but it's especially important for children. Sun protection is important for everyone, but it's especially important for children.

By implementing a sun protection policy in schools, we can significantly reduce the risk of skin cancer and provide healthier lifestyles for children and staff.

What Schools Can Do

- Children spend most of their school days outdoors during peak sun hours.
- The school gate is critical for sun exposure protection.
- Schools can influence behaviour through education.

Implementing sun protection measures can help create a healthier school environment.

Why Cancer Prevention Education

Education plays a crucial role in preventing skin cancer, given the amount of sun exposure children experience during school activities. This cancer is preventable, especially through education. The sun protection programme aims to:

- Inform teachers' awareness of skin cancer risks and protection measures.
- Change teachers' attitudes about sun protection.
- Encourage responsible decision-making about sun care.

Include teachers, parents, children, and the school community in sun protection efforts.

Adopt a Sun Protection Policy

A sun protection policy encourages schools to ensure everyone (for children, staff and visitors) is protected from the sun. Sun protection is important for everyone, but it's especially important for children. Sun protection is important for everyone, but it's especially important for children.

- provide effective sun protection education.
- encourage the use of suitable shade for outdoor activities.
- plan activities to ensure sun exposure during daylight hours.
- include time for sun protection and sun safety measures.
- consider sun protection when discussing school uniform changes.
- require teachers to wear protection clothing, including hats, sunglasses.
- provide sunscreen use in outdoor areas.
- encourage parents, teachers, and visitors to model sun protection behaviour.
- inform parents about the school's sun protection policy during activities.

Guidelines on Protection

To ensure effective sun protection, schools should:

- implement broad-based sun protection for the face, neck, and arms.
- consider hats as part of the school uniform.
- encourage sun protection during breaks, lunchtimes, and outdoor activities.
- implement display boards of skin cancer materials with key messages and advice.
- provide the use of SPF30 or higher sunscreen, and educate teachers on its proper application.

Guidelines on School Organisation

Schools should ensure activities for outdoor sun exposure, including:

- holding outdoor assemblies in shaded areas.
- ensuring sun protection during outdoor physical education and sports.
- scheduling outdoor events of high risk at times.
- applying the sun protection policy in swimming programmes.
- ensuring that teachers not actively competing wear appropriate sun protection.
- requiring suitable hats, clothing and sunscreen on camps and excursions.
- enabling greater sun protection influence by teachers and parents.

Guidelines for the School Environment

To create a healthy school environment, consider:

- ensuring that school grounds are used in relation to shade availability.
- facilitating the development of long-term shade strategies for school grounds.
- identifying possible areas and their reasons for use.
- determining which areas best support shade.
- planning for the reorientation of children or planning more time to provide shade.
- temporary shade structures.
- providing shade for high risk areas for children and visiting guests.

By implementing these guidelines, schools can help protect their students from skin cancer, creating a safe and healthy environment for all.
