century Vasari traces the development of Italian art across three centuries to the golden epoch of Leonardo and Michelangelo Great men and their immortal works are brought vividly to life as Vasari depicts the young Giotto scratching his first drawings on stone Donatello gazing at Brunelleschi's crucifix and Michelangelo's painstaking work on the Sistine Chapel harassed by the impatient Pope Julius II The Lives also convey much about Vasari himself and his outstanding abilities as a critic inspired by his passion for art The Nineteenth Century and After, 1884 The Psychology of Perspective and Renaissance Art Michael Kubovy, 1986 Michael Kubovy an experimental psychologist recounts the lively history of the invention of perspective in the fifteenth century and shows how as soon as the invention spread it was used to achieve subtle and fascinating aesthetic effects A clear presentation of the fundamental concepts of perspective and the reasons for its effectiveness drawing on the latest laboratory research on how people perceive leads into the development of a new theory to explain why Renaissance artists such as Leonardo and Mantegna used perspective in unorthodox ways which have puzzled art scholars This theory illuminates the author's broader consideration of the evolution of art the book proposes a resolution of the debate between those who believe that the invention/discovery of perspective is a stage in the steady progress of art and those who believe that perspective is merely a conventional and arbitrary system for the representation of space Catalogue of Periodical Literature, Journals and Transactions of Learned Societies, Issues from Government and Private Presses, Collections Bernard Quaritch, 1882 Italian Renaissance Art Christiane L.
