The Foot of the Cross; Or the Sorrows of Mary Frederick Faber, 2015-06-24 The Foot of the Cross or the Sorrows of Mary is a fabulous devotion to Mary      The Foot of the Cross Or the Sorrows of Mary Frederick William Faber, 2017-06-21 The Foot of the Cross or the Sorrows of Mary Fourth Edition is an unchanged high quality reprint of the original edition of 1872 Hansebooks is editor of the literature on different topic areas such as research and science travel and expeditions cooking and nutrition medicine and other genres As a publisher we focus on the preservation of historical literature Many works of historical writers and scientists are available today as antiques only Hansebooks newly publishes these books and contributes to the preservation of literature which has become rare and historical knowledge for the future      The Foot of the Cross: Or, the Sorrows of Mary Frederick William Faber, 1858      At the Foot of the Cross; Or, the Sorrows of Mary Frederick Faber, 2014-03-12 The law of the Incarnation is a law of suffering Our Blessed Lord was the man of sorrows and by suffering He redeemed the world His Passion was not a mystery detached from the rest of His life but only the fitting and congruous end of it Calvary was not unlike Bethlehem and Nazareth It exceeded them in degree it did not differ from them in kind The whole of the Three and Thirty Years was spent in consistent suffering though it was of various kinds and not of uniform intensity This same law of suffering which belongs to Jesus touches all who come nigh Him and in proportion to their holiness envelops them and claims them wholly for itself Their passions have been living shadows of the great Passion and the blood they shed mingled its kindred stream with the Precious Blood of their Redeemer the King of Martyrs So with the Saints Whether they have been bishops or doctors virgins or matrons seculars or religious unusual love and unusual grace have always reached them in the shape of unusual trial and unusual suffering They too must be drawn into the cloud and they will come out of it with their faces shining because they have seen and seen closely the Face of the Crucified It is so in its measure with all the elect They must stand at least within the fringes of the dark cloud or it must overshadow them in transit perhaps more than once in order to secure the salvation of their souls by giving them at least an adequate likeness to their Lord What then must we think of His Mother who came nighest to Him of all It can plainly be no wonder if she shall suffer more than anyone but Himself The immensity of her sorrows will neither be a distress nor a surprise to us but rather the obvious conclusion from all we know of the grand mystery of the Incarnation The amount of her sufferings will be the index of the magnificence of His love for her The depth of her pains will come the nearest of all things to fathom the abyss of her love for Him Her far rolling sea of sorrow will measure the grandeur of her holiness The loftiness of her Divine Maternity will raise her dolours close up to His gracious Passion Her sinlessness will almost seem to enclose it within the same life giving law of expiation Her union with Him will render her Compassion inseparable from His Passion even while for a thousand reasons it is so manifestly distinguishable from it The Woman clothed with the Sun will be wrapped round and round with the bright darkness of that same terrible destiny which He vouchsafed first to appoint and then to accept as the great law of His Incarnation We must be prepared to find Mary s dolours beyond the reach of our imagination above the possibility of our description We can only gaze upon them with such instruments as faith and love supply and note the beauty and the strangeness of many phenomena which we can only imperfectly comprehend Especially can we thus increase our devotion to the Passion many unknown regions of which are momentarily lighted up for us by the contact of her dolours just as in the occultation of Jupiter the luminous tearlike planet as it touches the dark portion of the moon scatters a momentary line of light along the unseen edge like a revelation and then by its disappearance proves the reality of that which we cannot see

The Foot of the Cross Frederick William Faber,2016-10-05 Excerpt from The Foot of the Cross Or the Sorrows of Mary This Treatise was sketched for the first time at St Wilfrid s in the summer of 1847 more than ten years ago It has however been several times revised and more than once entirely recast It was not however finally settled in its present shape until the spring of 1855 for not till then was the Author satisfied with the consistency of our Lady s position throughout nor with its adaptation to the requirements of scholastic theology The Author has had the completed Treatise by him for some time as the stage of preparation in which his materials were for a work on the Passion rendered it necessary for him to ascertain how much of that ground would be occupied by the Dolours and in what manner and it appeared better to compose the present Treatise and even finish it for the press before advancing his book on the Passion into another stage of its preparations in order that the ultimate harmony between the two might be the more complete But as the time was not come for the publication of the Dolours in its predetermined place in the series of books which the Author has planned it was laid by until its turn should arrive About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Foot of the Cross; Or, the Sorrows of Mary Frederick William Faber,2020-05-15 This is a reproduction of the original artefact Generally these books are created from careful scans of the original This allows us to preserve the book accurately and present it in the way the author intended Since the original versions are generally quite old there may occasionally be certain imperfections within these reproductions We re happy to make these classics available again for future generations to enjoy

Mary at the Foot of the Cross V ,2004-11 A special volume on the Mary at the Foot of the Cross series which commemorated the 150 Anniversary of Mary's Immaculate Conception. This is an interesting collection of informative articles by renowned mariologists. The 150th anniversary of the proclamation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception occasioned the theme of this volume. The mysteries of Mary are so intertwined that each of them sheds light on the other. This is the case between the Immaculate Conception and Marian Coredemption. A typical Franciscan thesis, the articles in this series reiterate that only she who is perfectly redeemed. Immaculate Conception has a unique active role in the redemption of Christ. Only one who is fullness of graces in the words of St Maximilian can distribute and mediate them to souls. The Foot of the Cross Faber Frederick William, 2022-10-27.
