Stanley, 2020-11-04 Martial Culture Silver Screen analyzes war movies one of the most popular genres in American cinema for what they reveal about the narratives and ideologies that shape U.S. national identity Edited by Matthew Christopher Hulbert and Matthew E. Stanley this volume explores the extent to which the motion picture industry particularly Hollywood has played an outsized role in the construction and evolution of American self-definition Moving chronologically eleven essays highlight cinematic versions of military and cultural conflicts spanning from the American Revolution to the War on Terror Each focuses on a selection of films about a specific war or historical period often foregrounding recent productions that remain understudied in the critical literature on cinema history and cultural memory Scrutinizing cinema through the lens of nationalism and its invention of tradition Martial Culture Silver Screen considers how movies possess the power to frame ideologies provide social coherence betray collective neuroses and fears construct narratives of victimhood or heroism forge communities of remembrance and cement tradition and convention Hollywood war films routinely present broad identifiable narratives such as that of the rugged pioneer or the good war through which filmmakers invent representations of the past establishing narratives that advance discrete social and political functions in the present As a result cinematic versions of wartime conflicts condition and reinforce popular understandings of American national character as it relates to violence individualism democracy militarism capitalism masculinity race class and empire Approaching war movies as identity forging apparatuses and tools of social power Martial Culture Silver Screen lays bare how cinematic versions of warfare have helped define for audiences what it means to be American

Hitler's Croatian Ally Antonio J Muñoz, 2025-07-02 Explores the rise and struggle of the Independent State of Croatia during WWII's brutal Balkans conflict On 6 April 1941 Nazi Germany along with Italy and Hungary invaded Yugoslavia after the overthrow of the Yugoslav regent Prince Paul Hitler sought to secure the right flank for his upcoming invasion of the USSR and assist Mussolini who had failed to conquer Greece The German attack was swift and by 17 April Yugoslavia capitulated leading to the creation of the Independent State of Croatia NDH Ante Pavelić leader of the fascist Ustaše organization was installed as the head of Croatia His government immediately began a brutal campaign of repression against non Croats especially Serbs This sparked rebellions with Serbian Chetnik bands and Croatian communists forming separate guerrilla movements The Croatian state was soon overwhelmed by these insurgencies Italy further complicated matters by creating occupation zones within Croatia supporting Chetnik bands and hampering Croatian military efforts The Croatian Army unable to fortify its territory due to Italian restrictions was often attacked by Chetniks and forced to fight on two fronts Despite these challenges including inadequate armament and the constant interference of its allies Croatia maintained a military force that continued to fight until the war's bitter end

Occupation David Lewis, 2025-04 A disturbing account of how Russia is seeking to remake occupied Ukraine in its own image once and for all

The Brick Paul Debrick, 2005-10 For 20 years Paul DeBrick has been recognised as one of the hardest men on the British football hooligan scene As a main face some say as the main face with the infamous Middlesbrough Frontline he has fought literally hundreds of battles against rival crews from all over the country A man who can never do things by halves The Brick developed a heroin and crack habit in the mid 90s that saw him plummet to the depths When he was given a week to live by doctors he vowed to fight his way back to health and strength and he succeeded
