Empowerment through Multicultural Education Christine E. Sleeter, 1991-01-01 This book reframes questions about student diversity by probing the extent to which society serves the interests of all and by examining the empowerment of members of oppressed groups to direct social change It examines the empowerment of children who are members of oppressed racial groups lower class and female based on the ideas of multicultural education A series of ethnographic studies illustrates how such young people view their world their power to affect it in their own interests and their response to what is usually a growing sense of powerlessness as they mature The authors also conceptualize contributions of multicultural education to empowering young people and report investigations of multicultural education projects educators have used for student empowerment Issues in teacher education are also discussed

Group Work Nano McCaughan, 2021-11-07 Group work is central to social work whether it be work with individuals and families residential care community work management or social work education Despite however the upsurge of interest in this aspect of social work method at the time Group Work Learning and Practice originally published in 1978 represented the first attempt at providing an up to date and carefully integrated source book for students in the form of a series of mainly original and British papers on social group work its knowledge base the possible varieties of practice settings and objectives and its implications for social work education and training models For new directions in social work education suggested that the small group was to become the core system around which much future social work teaching would be based The main concern of this new National Institute for Social Work reader the development and demonstration of intervention skills in practice would be particularly relevant The book draws attention to the opportunities for work with groups in the community in residential institutions and with families where the emphasis was rapidly shifting towards the need for greater understanding and use of the small group dimension Group Work Learning and Practice would have been widely welcomed both by specialists in group work at the time and all those more generally interested in social work methods as teachers students practitioners supervisors and as local authority training officers It would also be of interest to a wider readership of teachers youth workers and those concerned with the group dynamics and counselling fields
