Stargazer The Life And Times Of The Telescope:

Ian Stargazer Fred Watson, 2007 The telescope is literally the world's most far reaching invention It can unlock nature's secrets in the remotest corners of the universe It is a time machine allowing us to look billions of years into the past for answers to some of our most profound questions In its 400 year history the telescope has progressed from a crudely fashioned tube holding a couple of spectacle lenses to colossal structures housed in space age cathedrals The history of the telescope is a rich story of ingenuity and perseverance involving some of the most colourful figures of the scientific world It begins in ancient times gathers momentum through the Renaissance with the first recorded telescope bursting onto the scene in the middle of a diplomatic crisis in seventeenth century Holland and takes us to the limits of space with the cutting edge telescopes of today Written by Fred Watson one of Australia's best loved astronomers Stargazer brings the story of the telescope to a general readership for the first time The Origins of the Telescope Albert Van Helden, Sven Dupré, Rob van Gent, 2010

The origins of the telescope have been discussed and debated since shortly after the instrument's appearance in The Hague in 1608 Civic and national pride have led local dignitaries popular writers and numerous scholars to search the archives and to construct sharply divergent histories Did the honor of the invention belong to the Dutch to the Italians to the English or to the Spanish And if the city of Middelburg in the Netherlands was in fact the cradle of the instrument was the true inventor Hans Lipperhey or his rival Zacharias Jansen Or was the instrument there before anyone knew it Over the past several decades a group of historians and scientists have sought out new documents re-examined familiar ones and tested early lenses and telescopes This volume contains the proceedings of a symposium held in Middelburg in September 2008 to mark 400 years of the telescope The essays in it taken as a whole present a new and convincing account of the origins of the instrument that changed mankind's vision of the universe The Great Melbourne Telescope Richard

Gillespie, 2011-11-01 Erected at Melbourne Observatory in 1869 the telescope was the second largest in the world designed to explore the nature of the nebulae in the southern skies Richard Gillespie head of the History and Technology department at the Melbourne museum has written an entertaining account of the telescope's extraordinary history and tells the story through an amazing cast of characters whose lives intersected with the telescope Chronicling the Golden Age of Astronomy Neil English, 2018-10-31 The invention of the telescope at the dawning of the 17th century has revolutionized humanity's understanding of the Universe and our place within it This book traces the development of the telescope over four centuries as well as the many personalities who used it to uncover brand new revelations about the Sun Moon planets stars and distant galaxies Starting with early observers such as Thomas Harriot Galileo Johannes Hevelius Giovanni Domenico Cassini Robert Hooke and Christian Huygens the book explores how these early observers arrived at essentially correct ideas concerning the objects they studied Moving into the 18th and 19th centuries the author describes the increasing sophistication of telescopes both large and small and the celebrated figures who used them so productively including the required for many in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries a compromise in one's beliefs and the biblical authority on which he or she had relied and this did not come without serious and complex challenges Advances in astronomy such as the theories of Copernicus the development of the telescope and Galileo's discoveries and descriptions of the moon sparked intense debate in Early Modern literary discourse The essays in this collection demonstrate that this discourse not only stimulated international discussion about lunar voyages and otherworldly habitation but it also developed a political context in which these new discoveries and theories could correspond metaphorically to New World exploration and colonization to socio-political unrest and even to kingship and regicide
