Moon shine

The Man in the Moon needs some help to settle an argument with his neighbour, The Sun, and others have been boasting about how much brighter they are than the Moon. While the Man in the Moon knows the Moon doesn't make any light of its own, he thinks things that reflect light can be just as important. He has sent some pictures of different light sources and reflections to your class. He hopes the children can sort them out so he can show the Sun and others that there are not only lots of useful ways of making light, but reflecting it too.

Music Man muddle

Open a box containing a selection of percussion, string and wind instruments – or an envelope containing pictures – together with a note from the Music Man (from down your way). The Music Man is multi-talented and can play a wide variety of instruments but says it is difficult to keep his collection in order. Everything has got muddled up and he now needs the children to help. Can they sort through all his instruments and suggest a good way of grouping them so that it will be easier for him to find each one in future?

Aladdin's cave

Put a brass vase or object in front of the children and pretend to find a genie's message rolled up inside. The Genie of the Lamp wants to help Aladdin, who has been locked away in a cave by his wicked uncle. The cave is full of treasure, but because it is completely dark Aladdin cannot see any of it. If he could find the magic lamp, then the genie would be able to help him escape. Aladdin only has a glow stick, a night light and a torch inside his bag. Which light source should he choose to help him see everything clearly?

Giant footsteps

Your class has received a letter from a boy called Jack. He describes climbing a magic beanstalk, which he has recently grown from a bean. At the top there is a giant's house – full of treasures stolen from Jack's family. His idea is to grab these while the giant is sleeping and run as fast as he can. However, if the giant wakes and starts to give chase, how could Jack tell if the footsteps were close behind him? Can your pupils investigate whether sounds change as they get nearer to noises Jack that his plan might just work?
