Capitol Region Education Council
(Windsor, Conn.)

Teaching Afro American History:

Teaching African-American History Robert L. Harris, 2001 CREC Guides for Teaching Afro-American History
Capitol Region Education Council (Windsor, Conn.), 1971 Curriculum guide to teaching African American history and culture in grades 2-6 and a guide for integrating the African American experience into United States history for grades 7-12

Teaching Afro-American History Robert L. Harris, 1992 Teaching African and African American History In the Home, School, and Community Dr. Eva M. Doyle, 2023-11-13 The book My Journey of 45 Years Teaching African American History in the Home School and Community traces the author's life as an Educator, Historian and Community Activist with the goal of sharing little known facts about the contributions of African Americans to our nation and the world. Much of this history has been excluded from many textbooks. The readers will find this book to be biographical, informative and historical. The places, events, community projects and people featured here have contributed to a life-long journey of research and writing. It is the hope of this writer that this book will be used not only as a resource to learn more about the contributions of African Americans but as an incentive for readers to share their talents, knowledge and creativity to make a difference in the world. This is the 13th book in the Eye on History Series of publications designed to educate and inform readers on a variety of topics. Pero Gaglo Dagbovie, 2010 This volume establishes new perspectives on African American history. The author discusses a wide range of issues and themes for understanding and analyzing African American history, the 20th century African American historical enterprise and the teaching of African American history for the 21st century. A Primer for Teaching African History Trevor R. Getz, 2018-03-15 A Primer for Teaching African History is a guide for college and high school teachers who are teaching African history for the first time, for experienced teachers who want to reinvigorate their courses, for those who are training future teachers to prepare their own syllabi and for teachers who want to incorporate African history into their world history courses. Trevor R. Getz offers design principles aimed at facilitating a classroom experience that will help students navigate new knowledge, historical skills, ethical development and worldviews. He foregrounds the importance of acknowledging and addressing student preconceptions about Africa, challenging chronological approaches to history, exploring identity and geography as ways to access historical African perspectives and investigating the potential to engage in questions of ethics that studying African history provides. In his discussions of setting goals, pedagogy, assessment and syllabus design, Getz draws readers into the process of thinking consciously and strategically about designing courses on African history that will challenge students to think critically about Africa and the discipline of history. Teaching Afro-American History in the American Classroom Esther N. Horland, 1974 Teaching Black History to White People Leonard N. Moore, 2021-09-14 Leonard Moore has been teaching Black history for twenty-five years, mostly to white people. Drawing on decades of experience in the classroom and on college campuses throughout the South as well as on his own personal history Moore illustrates how an understanding of Black history is necessary for everyone With Teaching Black History to White People which is part memoir part Black history part pedagogy and part how to guide Moore delivers an accessible and engaging primer on the Black experience in America He poses provocative questions such as Why is the teaching of Black history so controversial and What came first slavery or racism These questions don't have easy answers and Moore insists that embracing discomfort is necessary for engaging in open and honest conversations about race Moore includes a syllabus and other tools for actionable steps that white people can take to move beyond performative justice and toward racial reparations healing and reconciliation

A Kid's Guide to African American History Nancy I.

Sanders, 2007-06-01 What do all these people have in common the first man to die in the American Revolution a onetime chief of the Crow Nation the inventors of peanut butter and the portable X ray machine and the first person to make a wooden clock in this country They were all great African Americans For parents and teachers interested in fostering cultural awareness among children of all races this book includes more than 70 hands on activities songs and games that teach kids about the people experiences and events that shaped African American history This expanded edition contains new material throughout including additional information and biographies Children will have fun designing an African mask making a medallion like those worn by early abolitionists playing the rhyming game Juba inventing Brer Rabbit riddles and creating a unity cup for Kwanzaa Along the way they will learn about inspiring African American artists inventors and heroes like Harriet Tubman Benjamin Banneker Rosa Parks Langston Hughes and Louis Armstrong to name a few

Blue Eyes on African-American History Philip J. Reiss, 2013-10-04 Until Bayard Rustin's lecture in the fall of 1962 no other person had brought author Philip Reiss so far toward gaining an understanding of what it was like for African Americans living as second class citizens in this nation which sponsors a pledge calling for liberty and justice for all The Rustin lecture became Reiss's point of departure on his quest to learn more fully of the African American experience it prompted him to become aware and to truly understand that the entire nation shared responsibility for the dilemma of deep seated injustices that African Americans constantly faced In Blue Eyes on African American History Reiss provides an account of a white professor's learning and teaching about African American history from 1970 to 1999 at a SUNY community college Reiss includes specifics of how and why he took on the challenge of teaching African American history and discusses the historical events he deems critical for understanding of that history His study relates the impact of economic exploitation facilitated by racism and how these twin evils are central to the African American historical narrative Along with factual history this volume intersperses some of Reiss's experiences as a young boy as a young adult serving in the military and as a professor teaching his course It provides unique insight into a turbulent time in America
