Teaching Biology In Higher Education:

Fulfilling the Promise National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Life Sciences, Committee on High-School Biology Education, 1990-02-01 Why are students today not learning biology appreciating its importance in their lives or pursuing it as a career Experts believe dismal learning experiences in biology classes are causing the vast majority of students to miss information that could help them lead healthier lives and make more intelligent decisions as adults How can we improve the teaching of biology throughout the school curriculum Fulfilling the Promise offers a vision of what biology education in our schools could be along with practical hard hitting recommendations on how to make that vision a reality Noting that many of their recommended changes will be controversial the authors explore in detail the major questions that must be answered to bring biology education to an acceptable standard how elementary middle and high school biology education arrived at its present state what impediments stand in the way of improving biology education how to properly prepare biology teachers and encourage their continuing good performance and what type of leadership is needed to improve biology education Improving College Biology Teaching National Research Council (U.S.). Committee on Educational Policies, 1957 Biology in Secondary Schools and the Training of Biology Teachers Charles William Finley, 1926 Some Factors in the Choice of a Career in College Teaching of Biology Ernest W. Developing Transformative Spaces in Higher Education Learning to Transgress demonstrates that even when knowledge may appear to be the solution it can be partial and disempowering to all but the dominant groups The book shows the need to contest such knowledge claims and to learn to transgress rather than to conform It argues that transformative spaces need to be found and that these should be about the creation of new opportunities ways of knowing and ways of being Working in and through spaces of transgression the contributors to this volume develop frameworks for the possibilities of transformative spaces in learning and teaching in higher education The book critiques the ways in which Western higher education culture determines the academic agenda in relation to dialogue on social differences minority groups and hierarchical structures including issues of representation among different groups in the population It also explores the personal and political costs of transgression and outlines ways in which transitions can be transformative The book should be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students engaged in the study of higher education education studies teacher training social justice and transformation It should also be essential reading for practitioners working in post compulsory education
