Teaching Of Writing In Our Schools:

Because Writing Matters National Writing Project, Carl Nagin, 2003-02-18 Because Writing Matters examines the myths and realities surrounding the teaching of writing in schools. This important book reveals how kids learn to write what schools need to do to teach writing effectively and shows that effective writing teachers address more than content and skills. Sponsored by the National Writing Project, a nationally recognized organization for teachers, Because Writing Matters offers step by step recommendations for developing effective writing programs in all grades. Each of the book's action steps is prioritized from the easily achieved to the larger and longer term.

Teaching Writing in the Content Areas Vicki Urquhart, Monette McIver, 2005-05-15 Most educators intuitively understand the critical relationship between thinking and writing: writing allows us to express what we think, but the very act of writing spurs a process of exploration that changes our thinking and helps us learn. Teaching Writing in the Content Areas examines nearly 30 years of research to identify how teachers can incorporate writing instruction that helps students master the course content and improve their overall achievement. Building on the recommendations of the National Commission on Writing, authors Vicki Urquhart and Monette McIver introduce four critical issues teachers should address when they include writing in their content courses: Creating a positive environment for the feedback and guidance students need at various stages including prewriting, drafting, revising, and editing; Monitoring and assessing how much students are learning through their writing; Choosing computer programs that best enhance the writing process; Strengthening their knowledge of course content and their own writing skills. The authors also provide 35 classroom strategies, practices, and handouts that teachers can easily implement in most subject areas or grade levels. From prewriting guides and work sheets to instructional guidance and analysis, the strategies offer realistic options to help teachers tailor writing assignments and instruction to the needs of each class. Teaching Writing in the Content Areas is more than a primer for teaching the mechanics of writing; it is a research-based guide to regularly engaging students in writing that pushes them to express themselves clearly, to explore new ideas, and to become critical thinkers.

The Teaching of Writing in Our Schools John M. Kean, 1983 Intended for all teachers involved in writing instruction, this booklet serves as an inservice guide. It focuses on writing as crafting and authoring and examines components of instruction in writing as a process. The booklet discusses the following topics: 1 the public face of writing in schools 2 the writing process 3 the use of models for writing 4 the writing environment 5 the role of grammar and mechanics 6 writing evaluation 7 writing and special learners 8 writing across the curriculum 9 standards for writing programs and 10 national and local efforts to improve writing programs.

HTH Practical Ideas for Teaching Writing as a Process Carol B. Olson, 1996-02 Contains a collection of specific classroom strategies and suggestions for teaching writing to elementary school students according to an eight-stage process. Specific techniques for teaching each stage of the writing process, descriptions of proven approaches for using these techniques are also included.
