Spectacle Entertainments of Early Imperial Rome Richard C. Beacham, 1999-01-01 The spectacles of Imperial Rome the religious festivals public games circus animal hunts processions and dramas were used by emperors and politicians to convey ideologies and political policies and to test public opinion Just as Octavian sought to gain and sway public opinion after the assassination of Caesar so Nero held many banquets and dramatic events to ensure and maintain his popularity Richard Beacham draws on the early Imperial accounts of Dio Tacitus and Suetonius as well as archaeological evidence to trace the changes in these entertainments throughout the period he discusses the information they contain for a better understanding of a range of policies and activities in Early Imperial Rome

Spectacles of Empire Christopher A. Frilingos, 2013-03-25 The book of Revelation presents a daunting picture of the destruction of the world complete with clashing gods a multiheaded beast armies of heaven and the final judgment of mankind The bizarre conclusion to the New Testament is routinely cited as an example of the early Christian renunciation of the might and values of Rome But Christopher A Frilingos contends that Revelation s relationship to its ancient environment was a rather more complex one In Spectacles of Empire he argues that the public displays of the Roman Empire the games of the arena the execution of criminals the civic veneration of the emperor offer a plausible context for reading Revelation Like the spectacles that attracted audiences from one end of the Mediterranean Sea to the other Revelation shares a preoccupation with matters of spectatorship domination and masculinity Scholars have long noted that in promising a complete reversal of fortune to an oppressed minority Revelation has provided inspiration to Christians of all kinds from liberation theologians protesting globalization to the medieval Apostolic Brethren facing death at the stake But Frilingos approaches the Apocalypse from a different angle arguing that Revelation was not merely a rejection of the Roman world in favor of a Christian one rather its visions of monsters and martyrs were the product of an empire whose subjects were trained to dominate the threatening other By comparing images in Revelation to those in other Roman era literature such as Greek romances and martyr accounts Frilingos reveals a society preoccupied with seeing and being seen At the same time he shows how Revelation calls attention to both the risk and the allure of taking in a show in a society which emphasized the careful scrutiny of one's friends enemies and self Ancient spectators Frilingos notes whether seated in an arena or standing at a distance as Babylon burned frequently discovered that they themselves had become part of the performance
