The Bloomsbury Handbook of Religion, Gender and Sexuality Sonya Sharma, Dawn Llewellyn, Sian Hawthorne, 2024-06-13 Bringing together disciplines across the arts, humanities and social sciences, this Handbook presents novel and lively examinations of the dynamic ways religion, gender and sexuality operate. Applying feminist, intersectional and reflexive approaches, the volume aims to loosen imperialist and exclusionary figurations that have underwritten and tethered religion, gender and sexuality together. While holding onto the field of inquiry, the Handbook offers contributions that interrogate and untie it from the terms and conditions that have formed it. The volume is organized into thematic sections: Forces and Futures, Activisms and Labors, Agencies and Practices, Relationships and Institutions, Texts and Objects. Chapters range across religious, geographical, historical, political and social contexts and feature an array of case studies, experiences and topics that exemplify the reflexive intention of the volume, including explorations of race, whiteness, colonialism and the institutional intolerance of minority groups. Contributors also advance new areas of research in religion including artificial intelligence, farming, migrant mothering, child sexual abuse, mediatization, national security, legal frameworks, addiction and recovery, decolonial hermeneutics, creative arts, sport, sexual practices and academic friendship. This is an essential contribution to the fields of religious studies and gender and sexuality studies.

Youth Sport, Physical Activity and Play Andrew Parker, Don Vinson, 2013-06-26 Sport physical activity and play are key constituents of social life impacting such diverse fields as healthcare education and criminal justice. Over the past decade governments around the world have begun to place physical activity at the heart of social policy providing increased opportunities for participation for young people. This groundbreaking text explores the various ways in which young people experience sport physical activity and play as part of their everyday lives and the interventions and outcomes that shape and define those experiences. The book covers a range of different sporting and physical activities across an array of social contexts providing insight into the way in which sport physical activity and play are interpreted by young people and how these interpretations relate to broader policy objectives set by governments sporting organisations and other NGOs. In the process it attempts to answer a series of key questions including: How has sport policy developed over the last decade? How do such policy developments reflect changes at the broader political level? How have young people experienced these changes in and through their sporting lives? By firmly locating sport physical activity and play within the context of recent policy developments and exploring the moral and ethical dimensions of sports participation the book fills a significant gap in the sport studies literature. It is an important reference for students and scholars from a wide range of sub disciplines including sports pedagogy sports development sport and leisure management sports coaching physical education play and playwork and health studies.
