Sin Steven J. Jensen, 2018-06-08 If the human soul is made for good then how do we choose evil On the other hand perhaps the human soul is not made for good Perhaps the magnitude of human depravity reveals that the human soul may directly choose evil Notably Thomas Aquinas rejects this explanation for the prevalence of human sin He insists that in all our desires we seek what is good How then do we choose evil Only by mistaking evil for good This solution to the difficulty however leads Aquinas into another conundrum How can we be held responsible for sins committed under a misunderstanding of the good The sinner it seems has simply made an intellectual blunder Sin has become an intellectual defect rather than a depravity of will and desire Sin A Thomistic Psychology grapples with these difficulties A solution to the problem must address a host of issues Does the ultimate good after which we all strive have unity or is it simply a collection of basic goods What is venial sin What momentous choice must a child make in his first moral act In what way do passion a habitually evil will and ignorance cause human beings to sin What is the first cause of moral evil Do human beings have free will to determine themselves to particular actions The discussion of these topics focuses upon the interplay of reason will and the emotions examining the inner workings of our moral deliberations Ultimately the book reveals how the failure to maintain balance in our deliberations subverts our fidelity to the one true good
