Yeshurun and Harold Schimmel offer close readings that examine the distinct poetics of translation that emerge from reciprocal practices of writing and translating Working in a minor literary vernacular the translation strategies that these poets employed allowed them to create and participate in transnational and multilingual poetic networks Strange Cocktail thereby advances a comparative and multilingual reframing of modern Hebrew literature that considers how canons change and are undone when translation occupies a central position how lines of influence and affiliation are redrawn and literary historiographies are revised when the work of translation occupies the same status as an original text when translating and writing go hand in hand
