Speaking Out Linde Zingaro, 2017-03-02 Many professionals in health education and community service roles are caught in a particular bind of identity they live in a complex social borderland of credibility and professional authority while experiencing or having experienced the same discrimination violence or trauma that they are committed to conquering For some the disclosure of their own stories of marginalization has become a tool for advocacy for telling a larger truth for others self disclosure is a more personal action intended to assist isolated others in developing trust and connection Linde Zingaro a lifelong social service worker and activist interviewed several colleagues who have chosen to speak out in this way talking with them about their ethics and intentions and collaborating to identify some of the risks of negative personal and professional consequences for the practitioner She uses their voices and her own to illustrate some of the ways that these people have learned to safely and effectively use the transformative potential of storytelling as significant social action This examination of speaking out as a meaningful social practice may help other workers activists and community researchers in their efforts to be heard in the interests of a more just society Speak Out! Kate Shuster, John Meany, 2005 Speak Out is a primer for beginning and intermediate students participating in class and contest debates It offers students clear concise information on public speaking and debating Combining the practical and theoretical the text teaches students about verbal and nonverbal communication how to research and present an argument how to answer arguments how to develop debate strategies and how to conduct a formal debate From Violence to Speaking Out Leonard Lawlor, 2016-08-30 Drawing on a career long exploration of 1960s French philosophy Leonard Lawlor seeks a solution to the problem of the worst violence The worst violence is the reaction of total apocalypse without remainder it is the reaction of complete negation and death it is nihilism Lawlor argues that it is not just transcendental violence that must be minimised all violence must itself be reduced to its lowest level He offers new ways of speaking to best achieve the least violence which he creatively appropriates from Foucault Derrida and Deleuze and Guattari as speaking freely speaking distantly and speaking in tongues Tales Out of School Jo Keroes, 1999 Jo Keroes's scope is wide she examines the teacher as represented in fiction and film in works ranging from the twelfth century letters of Abelard and Heloise to contemporary films such as Dangerous Minds and Educating Rita And from the twelfth through the twentieth century Keroes shows the teaching encounter is essentially erotic Tracing the roots of eros from cultural as well as psychological perspectives Keroes defines erotic in terms broader than the merely sexual She analyzes ways in which teachers serve as convenient figures on whom to map conflicts about gender power and desire To show how portrayals of men and women differ she examines pairs of texts using a film or a novel with a woman protagonist Up the Down Staircase for example as counterpoint to one featuring a male teacher Blackboard Jungle or The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie balanced against Dead Poets Society The portrayals of teachers like all images a culture

presents of itself reveal much about our private and social selves Keroes points out authentic accounts of authoritative women teachers who are admired and respected by colleagues and students alike Real teachers differ from the stereotypes we see in fiction and film however Male teachers are often portrayed as heroes in film and fallibly human in fiction whereas women in either genre are likely to be monstrous or muddled and are virtually never women of color Among other things Keroes demonstrates the tension between reality and representation reveals society s ambivalence about power in the hands of women

Speaking Out The New Rules of Business Leadership Communication defines the changing landscape of CEO communication at a time when corporate leaders are expected to navigate an increasing range of complex political and social issues Skeptics have already dubbed this change the victory of woke politics over the corporate sector Others warn CEOs about the talking trap of speaking out on every issue du jour But these critiques overlook the need for corporate leaders to manage political and social risks Chief executives whose only strategy is to avoid risk by saying nothing do so at their peril The ultimate question is not just what leaders say but what they do Speaking Out provides case studies of leaders who have spoken out and backed words with action as well as others who have had mixed records on accountability failed to show progress on public commitments or faced consequences for taking a stance Speaking Out offers a new lens for understanding the difference between PR efforts that can be easily dismissed as spin and authentic communication that enhances credibility and trust
