Speaking La Parole:

Speaking (La Parole) Georges Gusdorf, 1965 Speaking is an introduction to the philosophy of language from an existential and phenomenological point of view Gusdorf's central concern is to analyze speech within the context of human reality Speech is an abstraction but speaking is not he says Speaking expresses the experimental and dialectical relation of man nature and society It is through speaking that nature is sublimated into the meant and expressive world of human reality

How is linguistic theory related to linguistic practice What do theoretical notions and models tell us about real life language use Are there any limits to what such notions and models can reasonably be taken to accomplish These questions are fundamental to any serious investigation into the phenomena of human communication The essays in this book show that philosophers and linguists of quite different brands have tended to give undue priority to their own favourite theoretical framework and have presupposed that the descriptive scheme invoked by that framework constitutes a pattern to which any linguistic practice somehow has to conform What unites the contributors to this volume is a critical attitude towards such essentialist aspirations By investigating several concrete examples of this tendency examples collected from such seemingly disparate areas as structuralism contemporary analytic philosophy and feminist epistemology the authors collectively manage to cast doubt on the very attempt to fit the whole of linguistic practice into a general theoretical mould

Speaking about Torture Julie A. Carlson, Elisabeth Weber, 2012-09-12 This collection explores torture from the array of approaches offered by the arts and humanities It contends that these disciplines advance the discussion and eradication of torture by speaking about it in terms cognizant of the assaults on truth memory subjectivity and language that the humanities theorize and that experience of torture perpetuates

Merleau-Ponty, Hermeneutics, and Postmodernism Thomas W. Busch, Shaun Gallagher, 1992-10-01 This book opens up new dimensions in the philosophical thought of Merleau Ponty and addresses contemporary issues concerning interpretation theory and postmodernity In Part I the authors employ the texts of Merleau Ponty to challenge many of assumptions that operate in the current field of hermeneutics They find in Merleau Ponty the outline of a hermeneutics of ambiguity that incorporates his accounts of the human body language and temporality in working out the concepts of interpretation context perspective truth and interpersonal transgression Merleau Ponty thus enters into a productive dialogue with contemporary thinkers such as Gadamer Ricoeur Habermas Levinas and Derrida Part II engages Merleau Ponty with the many voices of postmodernism Some of the most able Merleau Ponty interpreters reveal the richness of his work through variant readings Can Merleau Ponty be construed as a postmodern thinker or as a critic of postmodernism To what extent can the concepts of flesh reversibility and ecart be made to function as deconstructive non concepts What can Merleau Ponty contribute toward a postmodern politics These essays move the discussion from Derrida to Deleuze Foucault and Lyotard Speaking, Stammering, Singing, Shouting Josephine Hoegaerts, 2025-08-26 What was considered a good normal or healthy voice in the nineteenth century In 1854 singing master Manuel Garcia became the first person to see the vocal cords at work in a human throat Less than a decade later surgeon Paul Broca identified what he called a speech center in the brain The almost simultaneous invention of the laryngoscope and the discovery of Broca's area present important turning points for how medical musical and other experts understood how the human voice works These developments did not occur in a vacuum however In Speaking Stammering Singing Shouting Josephine Hoegaerts describes the ambitious attempts throughout the nineteenth century to observe understand and manage human voices as well as the host of more traditional domestic and stereotypical beliefs about the voice that continued to exist alongside these new insights She peers into the stammering therapist's office over the singing teacher's shoulder and occasionally into the laryngoscope to see how something so simple the sound Europeans produced when they opened their mouths changed over the course of the nineteenth century Combining insights from medical and musical histories with methods from the fields of sound studies and the history of experience Hoegaerts traces how people imagined human voices in the nineteenth century and how they used them Rather than focusing on the great singers and orators of the age the book looks at the mundane daily practices of singers speakers and stammerers and the people who trained and studied them What did it take according to all these increasingly specialized professionals to have a normal voice in nineteenth century Europe Remaking Humanity Adam Beyt, 2024-08-22 Drawing upon Edward Schillebeeckx's theology and Judith Butler's philosophy Adam Beyt uses the framework of nonviolent hope to construct a Catholic political theology responding to dehumanizing violence Dehumanizing violence names words institutions or acts violating the inherent dignity of being made in the image and likeness of God Theology can participate in dehumanizing violence by claiming an uninterrogated universality that marginalizes bodies due to their perceived differences such as gender race sexuality or ability The book's constructive project integrates Schillebeeckx's and Butler's thought with queer theory and phenomenology to model embodiment as an enfleshing dynamism between bodies and signification The text then posits Catholic discipleship as incarnating hope by defending the humanum the new humanity announced through God's

Reign Combining reflections from Schillebeeckx and Butler this hope centers discipleship as nonviolent world building
 Concluding with a sustained reflection with the writings of Franz Fanon and Walter Benjamin the final chapter sketches a Catholic solidaristic response to contemporary struggles against the necropolitics of colonizing and state violence through assemblies of hope

Perspectives on Habermas Lewis Edwin Hahn, 2000 This collection of essays discusses the work of Jurgen Habermas the philosopher and exponent of the tradition known as Critical Theory His works defend the Enlightenment ideas of rationality humanism and the possibilities of discourse

The voice and public speaking John Poole Sandlands, 1879 Psychology and Experience Benjamin Bradley, 2005-09 A thought provoking study which evaluates the contrasting methods and philosophies of contemporary psychology

An Existential Phenomenology of Law: Maurice Merleau-Ponty William S. Hamrick, 2013-03-09 The following pages attempt to develop the main outlines of an existential phenomenology of law within the context of Maurice Merleau Ponty s phe nomenology of the social world In so doing the essay addresses the rather narrow scholarly question If Merleau Ponty had written a phenomenology of law what would it have looked like But this scholarly enterprise although impeccable in itself is also transcended by a more complicated concern for a very different sort of question Namely if Merleau Ponty s phenomenological descriptions of the social world are correct as I believe they largely are then what are the philosophical consequences for an adequate understanding of law Such a project may well occasion a certain surprise amongst observers of the contemporary philosophical landscape at least in what concerns the terrain of continental thought and for two different reasons The first is that although interest in Merleau Ponty s work remains strong in the United States and Can ada his philosophical standing in his own country has been largely eclipsed by that of first his friend estranged acquaintance Jean Paul Sartre by various Marxist philosophies and critical social theories and finally by those doing her meneutics of language In my view current neglect of Merleau Ponty s thought in France is most regrettable

The Anticolonial Linguistics of Nikolai Marr Matthew Carson Allen, Robert Young, 2024-11-08 The archaeologist philologist and Linguistics theoretician Nikolai Marr 1865 1934 has attracted increasing scholarly attention as a pivotal figure of late tsarist and early Soviet cultural politics and as an early anticolonial theorist He remains however an elusive thinker who is much written about but seldom read This volume offers a representative selection of Marr s writing from several stages of his life translated here for the first time into English The selection of texts allows the reader to trace the key evolving and interconnected preoccupations that animate Marr s vast oeuvre his anti nationalist valorization of the cultural and linguistic hybridity of the Caucasus his denunciation of the imperialist complicity of Western European comparative linguistics his anti Darwinian emphasis on mixture and convergence in place of filial descent within the history of languages and his unorthodox theories of linguistic origins in gesture rather than speech Key Marrist terms such as Japhetidology or the rejection of the prevalent theory of an Indo European language family are clarified The volume contains original essays that contextualize Marr s work within the history of linguistics
