Special Delivery Epistolary Modes In Modern Fiction:

Special Delivery Linda S. Kauffman, 1992-03 Though letter writing is almost a lost art twentieth century writers have mimed the epistolary mode as a means of reevaluating the theme of love In Special Delivery Linda S Kauffman places the narrative treatment of love in historical context showing how politics economics and commodity culture have shaped the meaning of desire Kauffman first considers male writers whose works testing the boundaries of genre and gender imitate love letters Viktor Shklovsky's Zoo Vladimir Nabokov's Lolita Roland Barthes's A Lover's Discourse and Jacques Derrida's The Post Card She then turns to three novels by women who are more preoccupied with politics than passion Doris Lessing's The Golden Notebook Alice Walker's The Color Purple and Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale By juxtaposing these women's productions with the men's production of Woman Special Delivery dismantles the polarities between male and female theory and fiction high and low culture male critical theory and feminist literary criticism Kauffman demonstrates how all seven texts mercilessly expose the ideology of individualism and romantic love each presents alternate paradigms of desire wrested from Oedipus grounded in history and politics giving epistolarity a distinctively postmodern stamp

Abstractionist Aesthetics Phillip Brian Harper, 2015-12-25 An artistic discussion on the critical potential of African American expressive culture In a major reassessment of African American culture Phillip Brian Harper intervenes in the ongoing debate about the proper depiction of black people He advocates for African American aesthetic abstractionism a representational mode whereby an artwork rather than striving for realist verisimilitude vigorously asserts its essentially artificial character Maintaining that realist representation reaffirms the very social facts that it might have been understood to challenge Harper contends that abstractionism shows up the actual constructedness of those facts thereby subjecting them to critical scrutiny and making them amenable to transformation Arguing against the need for positive representations Abstractionist Aesthetics displaces realism as the primary mode of African American representational aesthetics re-centers literature as a principal site of African American cultural politics and elevates experimental prose within the domain of African American literature Drawing on examples across a variety of artistic production including the visual work of Fred Wilson and Kara Walker the music of Billie Holiday and Cecil Taylor and the prose and verse writings of Ntozake Shange Alice Walker and John Keene this book poses urgent questions about how racial blackness is made to assume certain social meanings In the process African American aesthetics are upended rendering abstractionism as the most powerful modality for Black representation

Samuel Richardson and the Art of Letter-Writing Louise Curran, 2016-03-17 This fascinating study examines Samuel Richardson's letters as important works of authorial self-fashioning It analyses the development of his epistolary style the links between his own letter writing practice and that of his fictional protagonists how his correspondence is highly conscious of the spectrum of publicity and how he constructed his letter collections to form an epistolary archive for posterity Looking backwards to earlier epistolary traditions and forwards to the emergence of the lives in letters mode of biography the book places Richardson's correspondence in a historical continuum. It explores how the eighteenth century witnesses a transition from a period in which an author would rarely preserve personal papers to a society in which the personal lives of writers become privileged as markers of authenticity in the expanded print market. It argues that Richardson's letters are shaped by this shifting relationship between correspondence and publicity in the mid-eighteenth century.

Nabokov and His Fiction Julian W. Connolly, 1999-08-05 Published in 1999 to mark the centenary of Vladimir Nabokov's birth, this volume brings together the work of eleven of the world's foremost Nabokov scholars, offering perspectives on the writer and his fiction. Their essays cover a broad range of topics and approaches, from close readings of major texts including Invitation of a Small Guest and Pale Fire to penetrating discussions of the significant relationship between Nabokov's personal beliefs and experiences and his art. Several of the essays attempt to uncover the artistic principles that underlie the author's literary creations, while others seek to place Nabokov's work in a variety of literary and cultural contexts. Among these essays are a first glimpse at a little-known work, The Tragedy of Mr. Morn, as well as a perspective on Nabokov's most famous novel, Lolita. The volume as a whole offers valuable insight into Nabokov scholarship.

Rereading Heterosexuality Rachel Carroll, 2012-04-04 Heterosexuality in contemporary novels re-examined using the frameworks of feminism and queer theory. Drawing on feminist and queer theories of sex, gender, and sexuality, this study focuses on female identities at odds with heterosexual norms. In particular, it explores narratives in which the conventional equation between heterosexuality, reproductive sexuality, and female identity is questioned.

Abdellah Taïa's Queer Migrations Denis M. Provencher, Siham Bouamer, 2021-06-28 In this first edited collection in English on Abdellah Taïa, Denis M. Provencher and Siham Bouamer frame the distinctiveness of the Moroccan author's migration by considering current scholarship in French and Francophone studies, postcolonial studies, affect theory, queer theory, and language and sexuality. In contrast to critics that consider Taïa to immigrate and integrate successfully to France as a writer and intellectual, Provencher and Bouamer argue that the author's writing is replete with elements of constant migration,comings and goings, cruel optimism, flexible accumulation of language over borders, transnational filiations, and new forms of belonging and memory making across time and space. At the same time, his constantly evolving identity emerges in many non-places defined as liminal and border narrative spaces where unexpected and transgressive new forms of belonging emerge without completely shedding shame, mourning, or melancholy.

Beyond the Second Sophistic Tim Whitmarsh, 2020-05-05 The Second Sophistic traditionally refers to a period at the height of the Roman Empire's power that witnessed a flourishing of Greek rhetoric and oratory, and since the 19th century it has often been viewed as a defense of Hellenic civilization against the domination of Rome. This book proposes a very different model. Covering popular fiction, poetry, and Greco-Jewish material, it argues for a rich, dynamic, and diverse culture which cannot be reduced to a simple model of continuity. Shining new light on a series of playful, imaginative texts that are left out of the traditional accounts of Greek literature, Whitmarsh models a more adventurous, exploratory approach to later Greek culture Beyond the Second Sophistic offers not only a new way of looking at Greek literature from 300 BCE onwards but also a challenge to the Eurocentric aristocratic constructions placed on the Greek heritage Accessible and lively it will appeal to students and scholars of Greek literature and culture Hellenistic Judaism world literature and cultural theory

Nasser in the Egyptian Imaginary Omar Khalifah, 2016-10-27 The late President of Egypt Gamal Abdel Nasser 1918 1970 has been represented in many major works of Egyptian literature and film and continues to have a presence in everyday life and discourse in the country Omar Khalifah's analysis of these representations focuses on how the historical character of Nasser has emerged in the Egyptian imaginary He explores the recurrent images of Nasser in literature and film and shows how Nasser constitutes a perfect site for plural interpretations He argues that Nasser has become a rhetorical device a figure of speech a trope that connotes specific images constantly invoked whenever he is mentioned His study makes a case for literature and art to be seen as alternative archives that question erase distort and add to the official history of Nasser

Reading the American Novel 1920-2010 James Phelan, 2013-04-02 This astute guide to the literary achievements of American novelists in the twentieth century places their work in its historical context and offers detailed analyses of landmark novels based on a clearly laid out set of tools for analyzing narrative form Includes a valuable overview of twentieth and early twenty first century American literary history Provides analyses of numerous core texts including The Great Gatsby Invisible Man The Sound and the Fury The Crying of Lot 49 and Freedom Relates these individual novels to the broader artistic movements of modernism and postmodernism Explains and applies key principles of rhetorical reading Includes numerous cross novel comparisons and contrasts

Vladimir Nabokov's Lolita Ellen Pifer, 2003 This volume comprises an interview with Nabokov as well as nine critical essays that follow a progression focusing first on textual and thematic features of Lolita and then proceeding to broader issues and cultural implications including the novel's relations to other work of literature and art
