Johannes Willem Bertens

Specifying Black Women Writing The American Experience:

Specifying Susan Willis, 1987 Focusing on Zola Neale Hurston Paule Marshall Toni Morrison Alice Walker and Toni Cade Bambara this book explores both the ways in which black women's fictions have been shaped by the history of the United States and the ways in which they intervene in that history She sees the transition from an agrarian to an urban society as the critical moment of that history and argues that writings by black women articulate that change in their content as well as form ISBN 0 299 10890 2 19 95

Everyday Use Alice Walker, 1994 Presents the text of Alice Walker's story Everyday Use contains background essays that provide insight into the story and features a selection of critical response Includes a chronology and an interview with the author

The Coupling Convention : Sex, Text, and Tradition in Black Women's Fiction Ann duCille Associate Professor of English and African American Studies Wesleyan University, 1993-10-19 What does the tradition of marriage mean for people who have historically been deprived of its legal status Generally thought of as a convention of the white middle class the marriage plot has received little attention from critics of African American literature In this study Ann duCille uses texts such as Nella Larsen's Quicksand 1928 and Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God 1937 to demonstrate that the African American novel like its European and Anglo American counterparts has developed around the marriage plot what she calls the coupling convention Exploring the relationship between racial ideology and literary and social conventions duCille uses the coupling convention to trace the historical development of the African American women's novel She demonstrates the ways in which black women appropriated this novelistic device as a means of expressing and reclaiming their own identity More than just a study of the marriage tradition in black women's fiction however The Coupling Convention takes up and takes on many different meanings of tradition It challenges the notion of a single black literary tradition or of a single black feminist literary canon grounded in specifically black female language and experience as it explores the ways in which white and black male and female mainstream and marginalized traditions and canons have influenced and cross fertilized each other Much more than a period study The Coupling Convention spans the period from 1853 to 1948 addressing the vital questions of gender subjectivity race and the canon that inform literary study today In this original work duCille offers a new paradigm for reading black women's fiction

Literary Theory Johannes Willem Bertens, 2001 Providing the ideal first step in understanding the often bewildering world of literary theory this text is an easy to follow and clearly presented introduction to this fascinating area

Crossroads in the Black Aegean Barbara Goff, Michael Simpson, 2007-11-15 Crossroads in the Black Aegean is a compendious timely and fascinating study of African rewritings of Greek tragedy It consists of detailed readings of six dramas and one epic poem from different locations across the African diaspora Barbara Goff and Michael Simpson ask why the plays of Sophocles Theban Cycle figure so prominently among the tragedies adapted by dramatists of African descent and how plays that dilate on the power of the past in the inexorable curse of Oedipus and the regressive obsession of Antigone can articulate the postcolonial moment Capitalizing on classical reception studies postcolonial studies and comparative literature Crossroads in the Black Aegean coordinates theory and theatre It crucially investigates how the plays engage with the Western canon and shows how they use their self consciously literary status to assert ironize and challenge their own place and that of the Greek originals in relation to that tradition Beyond these oedipal reflexes the adaptations offer alternative African models of cultural transmission

Shifting the Ground Rachel Stein, 1997 From a perspective of ecofeminist theory author Rachel Stein suggests that selected writings by Emily Dickinson Zora Neale Hurston Alice Walker and Leslie Marmon Silko metaphorically revise American concepts of nature gender and race Stein shows that by reinterpreting nature these writers transform their characters from social objects into self empowered subjects

Female Subjects in Black and White Elizabeth Abel, Barbara Christian, Helene Moglen, 2023-09-01 This landmark collaboration between African American and white feminists goes to the heart of problems that have troubled feminist thinking for decades Putting the racial dynamics of feminist interpretation center stage these essays question such issues as the primacy of sexual difference the universal nature of psychoanalytic categories and the role of race in the formation of identity They offer new ways of approaching African American texts and reframe our thinking about the contexts discourses and traditions of the American cultural landscape Calling for the racialization of whiteness and claiming that psychoanalytic theory should make room for competing discourses of spirituality and diasporic consciousness these essays give shape to the many stubborn incompatibilities as well as the transformative possibilities between white feminist and African American cultural formations Bringing into conversation a range of psychoanalytic feminist and African derived spiritual perspectives these essays enact an inclusive politics of reading Often explosive and always provocative Female Subjects in Black and White models a new cross racial feminism This landmark collaboration between African American and white feminists goes to the heart of problems that have troubled feminist thinking for decades Putting the racial dynamics of feminist interpretation center stage these essays question such issues
