Transformation of Love Elif Güvendi Yalçın,2022-11-03 Romances date back to the creation of stories Although the definition of the genre has changed in time from the Ancient Greeks to the Bildungsromans to the 19th century and today s courtship novels both scholarship and widely held attitudes towards romance has remained fixedly and prioritized only the universality unoriginality and continuity of romance fiction instead of its sociocultural effect of promoting positive ideals like female empowerment The portrayal of women in social roles has been in a state of constant change including their relationship with and relation to men This book explores only medieval historical romance fictions and their changes through the course of the time I examine three medieval romances content Walter Scott s Ivanhoe 1920 Kathleen Woodowiss The Wolf and the Dove 1974 and Amanda Quick s Mystique 1995 written in different time periods based on content analysis using Anthony Giddens s 1992 theories of intimacy In addition it will address romance novels views about sex gender and love roles excess the 1980s There may be no more joyous iteration in all of music than 1980s hard rock It was an era where the musical and cultural ideals of rebellion and freedom of the great rock n roll of the 50s 60s and 70s were taken to dizzying heights of neon excess Attention to songcraft showmanship and musical virtuosity especially in the realm of the electric guitar were at an all time high and radio and MTV were delivering the goods en masse to the corn fed children of America and beyond Time hasn't always been kind to artists of that gold and platinum era but Don't Call It Hair Metal analyzes the sonic evolution musical diversity and artistic intention of 80s commercial hard rock through interviews with members of such hard rock luminaries as Twisted Sister Def Leppard Poison Whitesnake Ratt Skid Row Quiet Riot Guns N Roses Dokken Mr Big and others

Radium of the Word Craig Dworkin, 2020-12-09 With fresh insight and contemporary relevance Radium of the Word argues that a study of the form of language yields meanings otherwise inaccessible through ordinary reading strategies Attending to the forms of words rather than to their denotations Craig Dworkin traces hidden networks across the surface of texts examining how typography and even individual letters and marks of punctuation can reveal patterns that are significant without being symbolic fully meaningful without communicating any preordained message Radium of the Word takes its title from Mina Loy's poem for Gertrude Stein which hails her as the Madame Curie of the laboratory of vocabulary In this spirit Dworkin considers prose as a dynamic literary form characterized by experimentation Dworkin draws on examples from writers as diverse as Lyn Hejinian William Faulkner and Joseph Roth He takes up the status of the proper name in Modernism with examples from Stein Loy and Guillaume Apollinaire and he offers in depth analyses of individual authors from the counter canon of the avant garde including P Inman Russell Atkins N H Pritchard and Andy Warhol The result is an inspiring intervention in contemporary poetics

Frank O'Hara and the Poetics of Saying 'I' Micah Mattix, 2011-03-03 While recent works of criticism on Frank O Hara have focused on the technical similarities between his poetry and painting or between his use of language and poststructuralism Frank O Hara and the Poetics of Saying I argues that what is most significant in O Hara s work is not such much his borrowing from painters or his proto Derridean use of language but his preoccupation with self exploration and the temporal effects of his work as artifacts Following Pasternak s understanding of artistic inspiration as an act of love for the material world O Hara explores moments of experience in an effort to both complicate and enrich our experience of the material world On the one hand in poems such as Second Avenue for example O Hara works to muddy language through which experience is in part mediated with the use of parataxis allusions and absurd metaphors and similes On the other in his I do this I do that poems he names the events of his lunch hour in an effort among other things to experience time as a moment of fullness rather than as a moment of loss The book argues furthermore that O Hara s view of the self as both an expression of the creative force at work in the world and as the temporal aggregate of finite experiences places him between so called Romantic and postmodern theories of the lyric While it is often argued that O Hara is a forerunner of a new critically informed materialist poetics this study concludes that O Hara s work is somewhat less radical in its understanding of poetic meaning than is often claimed Moreover while O Hara is preoccupied with his experience in his poems the book argues that he espouses in some respects a rather traditional view of love In addition to being a metaphor for the creative act love for O Hara is the chance coming together of two entities Yet one of the ironies of this is that while love is for O Hara a feeling that is the result of movement or the unexpected coming together of two otherwise separ
