Introduction

On October 12-13, 2023, the conference "China's Belt & Road Initiative (BRI) at Ten: The World According to China and China According to the World" was hosted at the Boston University Hillel House.¹ Co-chaired by Andrew R. Wilson and Grant F. Rhode, this event marked the 10th anniversary of China's ambitious BRI project. The conference, a joint endeavor of the U.S. Naval War College and the Pardee School of Global Studies Center for the Study of Asia at Boston University, aimed to critically evaluate the BRI's geopolitical, economic, and strategic influences on the world over the past decade and assess possible futures for the BRI moving forward.

The conference agenda was meticulously planned to offer a comprehensive examination of the BRI from diverse perspectives and regional insights. Grant Rhode and Kathleen Walsh² opened the conference by providing context remarks about the BRI. Scott Taylor, Dean of the Pardee School, and Andrew Wilson, John A. van Beuren Chair of Asia-Pacific Studies at the Naval War College, welcomed the conference participants and set the stage for the conference program. The agenda consisted of two keynote talks and four panels with four speakers each, each panel followed by Q&A sessions.
