Iroanya, F. O. C. Phyllis Bischof, 1993 Nwonwu, 2008 Risk analysis studies on Africa conducted by a number of international organisations have addressed a number of complex and interlocking socioeconomic and political issues largely painting a bleak picture of the continent These reports have been used by the Western countries as benchmarks for the flow of donor funds often with disastrous consequences The failure of the Structural Adjustment Programmes SAPs introduced by the Bretton Woods institutions in the 1970s and 1980s serve as a good example Taking cognisance of these interpretations the case studies in this volume have employed appropriate methodological conceptual and theoretical approaches with the objective of reaching balanced assessments on the underlying principles of risk and threat in Africa The authors take a more holistic view clearly defining the concept of risk and its corollaries and going beyond the somewhat limited view of those organisations which apply largely Eurocentric values to their assessments The Analytic Hierarchy Process Bruce L. Golden, Edward A. Wasil, Patrick T. Harker, 2012-12-06 Management science is a di scipl ine dedicated to the development of techniques that enable decision makers to cope with the increasing complexity of our world The early burst of excitement which was spawned by the development and successful applications of linear programming to problems in both the public and private sectors has challenged researchers to develop even more sophisticated methods to deal with the complex nature of decision making Sophistication however does not always trans 1 ate into more complex mathematics Professor Thomas L Saaty was working for the U S Defense Department and for the U S Department of State in the late 1960s and early 1970s In these positions Professor Saaty was exposed to some of the most complex decisions facing the world arms control the Middle East problem and the development of a transport system for a Third World country While having made major contributions to numerous areas of mathematics and the theory of operations research he soon realized that one did not need complex mathematics to come to grips with these decision problems just the right mathematics Thus Professor Saaty set out to develop a mathematically based technique for analyzing complex situations which was sophisticated in its simplicity This technique became known as the Analytic Hierarchy Process AHP and has become very successful in helping decision makers to structure and analyze a wide range of problems
