The Widening Gap Mary Shaw,1999-11-20 This volume presents new evidence on the size of the health gap between different groups of people in Britain It asks whether the government is concerned enough about reducing inequalities and highlights living conditions in the worst areas Women of Westminster Rachel Reeves,2020-03-05 Foreword by Dame Winifred Mary Beard This updated edition is a complete account of the first 100 years of women in Parliament In 1919 Nancy Astor was elected as the Member of Parliament for Plymouth Sutton becoming the first woman MP to take her seat in the House of Commons Her achievement was all the more remarkable given that women and even then only some women had only been entitled to vote for just over a year In the past 100 years a total of 491 women have been elected to Parliament Yet it was not until 2016 that the total number of women ever elected surpassed the number of male MPs in a single parliament The achievements of these political pioneers have been remarkable Britain has now had two female Prime Ministers and women MPs have made significant strides in fighting for gender equality from the earliest suffrage campaigns to Barbara Castle s fight for equal pay to Harriet Harman s recent legislation on the gender pay gap Yet the stories of so many women MPs have too often been overlooked in political histories In this book Rachel Reeves brings forgotten MPs out of the shadows and looks at the many battles fought by the Women of Westminster from 1919 to 2019 An Intellectual Adventurer in Health Care Needs Assessment Dr. Andrew Stevens,2004 Providing vital updates this two volume set describes the central role and aim of health care needs assessment in the NHS health care reforms and explains the epidemiological approach to needs assessment and the effectiveness and availability of services The Geography of English Politics (Routledge Library Editions: Political Geography) Ron Johnston, 2014-10-03 This book illustrates the degree of variability in voting behaviour within social groups and suggests reasons for that variability It reviews and critiques conventional analyses and presents statistical analyses of the geography of voting in England The book reveals that substantial geographical variations exist in the widely held generalisations such as that white collar owner occupiers favour the Conservatives or that blue collar council tenants prefer Labour The Municipal Year Book and Public Services Directory ,1992 The British Islands and Their Vegetation ,1953 Electronic Democracy and the 1997 UK General Elections Glen Segell,1997 Delegation in Local Government Peter G. Richards, 2024-06-26 Originally published in 1956 this book outlines the history of delegation in local government since the establishment of county councils in 1888 It describes the use made of delegation over a wide range of council services The technique of delegation has become more important in recent years and represents the compromise of the competing claims of county and district councils to control local government This book is an important contribution both to the detailed study of local administration and to the debate on the future pattern of local government The Climates and Baths of Great Britain Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society of London, 1895 Poverty in Plenty Jane Seymour, 2013-12-19 Poverty in Plenty breaks new ground in two ways It is the first national Human Development Report to focus on an industrialised country and it is the first to be produced by a non governmental organisation While problems of poverty and deprivation are less extreme in countries such as the UK than in some other parts of the world the human development message is still highly relevant There are many people who suffer through inadequate housing insufficient means to guarantee a nutritious diet and the absence of secure rewarding and remunerative employment From the Foreword by Sakiko Fukuda Parr Human Development Report Office United Nations Development Programme The economics that dominates Britain loosely known as globalisation is a kind of religion which dictates that the worship of money should take preference over common human values like the sharing of wealth and the right to a decent life This report reveals the power of traditional economics over our society and the way in which the lives of our grandmothers and grandfathers men and women girls and boys have been damaged and impoverished I highly recommend it Ann Pettifor Director Jubilee 2000 UK The UK s performance on poverty and deprivation ranks 16th out of 18 industrialised countries People living in Glasgow Shettleston are 3.8 times more likely to die before they are 65 years old than those living in Wokingham In industrialised countries wealth and affluence are widely perceived to be growing although not at the same rate for everyone But economic growth is not the same as genuine human development Poverty in Plenty applies accepted measures of human poverty education health and employment to the UK and assesses how our food and housing policies contribute to a sustainable way of life It draws on the work of leading research institutes and campaigning groups to determine the real state of society in the UK Using a range of indicators to measure livelihoods and well being the report shows how widespread poverty is and highlights the vast geographical disparities in levels of poverty that exist within the UK It goes on to set out what urgently needs to be done to address the sobering trends revealed and describes effective policies that will allow us to improve the current situation The findings are of vital importance to those working on social issues in the public and voluntary sectors and to students and general readers wanting the truth behind the public statistics Jane Seymour is an independent researcher and writer on health and environment issues Originally published in 2000
