Africa's Challenge to International Relations Theory K. Dunn, T. Shaw, 2001-02-20 Africa has been noticeably absent in international relations theory. This new collection of essays by contemporary Africanists convincingly demonstrates the importance of the continent to every theoretical approach in international relations. This collection breaks new ground in how we think about both international relations and Africa, re-examining such foundational concepts as sovereignty, the state, and power, critically investigating the salience of realism, neo-liberalism, liberalism in Africa, and providing new thinking about regionalism, security, and identity.

Urban Planning Challenges and Innovations in Sub-Saharan Africa Abubakari Ahmed, Millicent A. Akaateba, Bernard A. A. Akanbang, 2025-07-16 Urban planning practice in Sub-Saharan Africa increasingly encounters complexities due to the confluence of urbanisation, climate change, and their interconnected drivers and consequences. The potential effect of these complexities on achieving the sustainable development goals is significant. This book explores the unique challenges faced by rapidly growing cities in Sub-Saharan Africa, including urban crime, informality, land governance, development control, and the degradation of green spaces, as well as how these issues are addressed in planning, education, and emerging innovations. The book presents various case studies from selected African countries, emphasising contemporary urban challenges and innovative strategies, including implementing artificial intelligence, which is being adopted to tackle these issues. Chapters analyse the significance of reflective planning, hybrid governance, international development, and technological advancements in influencing the future trajectory of urban development planning. By providing a comprehensive overview of these issues, this book serves as a crucial resource for urban planners, policymakers, scholars, and students dedicated to the sustainable development of cities in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Examining Human Rights Issues and the Democracy Project in Sub-Saharan Africa E. Ike Udogu, 2014-03-06 Sub-Saharan Africa is experiencing an impressive measure of economic revivalism that is driven by both national and international forces at the beginning of the twenty first century That political and business leaders in the region are determined that development in this millennium will not mimic the slow pace of growth in the twentieth is a given Undoubtedly the rapid spread of information communications technology ICT and contemporary investments of China in the region s growth agenda bear this thesis out This book among other things advances the theory that improving human rights practices and the democracy project i e democratic consolidation in sub Saharan Africa will create an enabling environment that is critical for stimulating the current inspiring development objectives

Socially Responsive Organizations & the Challenge of Poverty Milenko Gudi?,Al Rosenbloom,Carole Parkes,2017-09-08 This book provides a combination of case studies and current action research describing how businesses and civil society organizations are working to alleviate poverty in local and global communities It intends to provide conceptual and research rationales for why management education and management institutions must address the issue of poverty The book responds to one of the major findings from the research of the PRME Working Group on Poverty that the topic of poverty still lacks a strong business case for management educators and program institutional administrators The distinctive features of this book are that it 1 includes examples of small and medium sized SME businesses 2 deals with the issue of poverty as a human rights violation 3 explores the issue of absolute versus relative poverty 4 deals with leadership challenges in organizations committed to poverty alleviation and 5 discusses the issues in terms of management education s responsibility for setting new management research institutional and intellectual agendas The first of two books to be produced by the PRME Working Group on Poverty Socially Responsive Organizations and The Challenge of Poverty aims to provide both researchers and practitioners with the most wide ranging coverage yet published on how business can be a positive force in alleviating poverty and how management education needs to adapt to this increasingly crucial prerogative

Systems Analysis Approach for Complex Global Challenges Priscilla Mensah,David Katerere,Sepo Hachigonta,Andreas Roodt,2018-04-09 This book which contains a collection of review articles as well as focus on evidence based policy making will serve as a valuable resource not just for all postgraduate students conducting research using systems analysis thinking but also for policy makers To our knowledge a book of this nature which also has a strong African focus is currently not available The book examines environmental and socio economic risks with the aim of providing an analytical foundation for the management and governance of natural resources disasters addressing climate change and easing the technological and ecological transitions to sustainability It provides scientific and strategic analysis to better understand the dynamics of future energy transitions their main driving forces enabling factors barriers as well as their consequences for the social economic and environmental dimensions of human wellbeing Science based policy advice is achieved through an integrated assessment and modeling of how to simultaneously address the major energy policy challenges in the areas of environment climate change and air pollution energy poverty or access to affordable and clean energy for the poor energy security and reliability It also aims to improve our understanding of ecosystems and their management in today's changing world in particular the current state of ecosystems and their ecological thresholds and buffering capacities. It provides support for policy makers in developing rational realistic and science based regional national and global strategies for the production of fuel food and fibre that sustain ecosystem services and safeguard food security. Finally it addresses the human development dimension of global change based on comprehensive studies on the changing size and composition of human populations around the world by analyzing both their impacts and the differential vulnerabilities by age gender and level of education.

Governmental Response to Environmental Challenges in Global Perspective Joseph G. Jabbra, O. P. Dwivedi, 1998. In our drive to improve human standards of living we have paradoxically paid scant attention to the need for clean air and water the impact of acid rain on agriculture lakes and rivers the effect of pollutants on the ozone layer the safe disposal of hazardous wastes and the relationship between population growth and the environment. It seems that every time governments are faced with an apparent choice between economic development and the protection of the environment priority is always given to the former. Short term plans dictated by canons of political survival and expediency always seem to take precedence over long term strategies with politicians and decision makers deftly relegating environmental concerns to the realm of rhetoric. This book is an effort to better understand the problems faced by our global ecosystems. It is also the result of the authors deep commitment to urge both citizens and their leaders the world over to work together for a better protection of the environment so that our planet may be saved for the present and for future generations.

Sustainability Challenges in Sub-Saharan Africa I Alexandros Gasparatos, Abubakari Ahmed, Merle Naidoo, Alice Karanja, Kensuke Fukushi, Osamu Saito, Kazuhiko Takeuchi, 2020-09-04. The aim of this 2 volume book is to highlight how Sustainability Science approaches can help solve some of the pervasive challenges that Africa faces. The volumes collect a number of local case studies throughout Africa that adopt transdisciplinary and problem oriented research approaches using methodologies from the natural and the social sciences. These are put into perspective with chapters that introduce key sustainability challenges such using a regional focus. Through this multi scale and inter transdisciplinary approach the proposed volume will provide an authoritative source that will pack in a single volume a large amount of information on how Sustainability Science approaches sustainability challenges in African contexts. While there have been general books about sustainability science none has had a strong African focus. As a result the 2 volume set fills a major gap in the Sustainability Science scholarship. This volume sets the stage for the series. Part I introduces key sustainability challenges in Africa. Parts II III highlights specific case studies related to these challenges from West and Central Africa.

With the region hosting 10 percent of the world's population but a staggering 30 percent of the world's poor the challenges it faces are enormous but NOT insurmountable. The message of this book is clear.
