South Asian Religion And Society:

Changing South Asia: Religion and society David Taylor, 1984 Objects of Worship in South Asian Religions Knut A. Jacobsen, Mikael Aktor, Kristina Myrvold, 2014-08-27 Objects of worship are an aspect of the material dimension of lived religion in South Asia The omnipresence of these objects and their use is a theme which cuts across the religious traditions in the pluralistic religious culture of the region Divine power becomes manifest in the objects and for the devotees they may represent power regardless of religious identity This book looks at how objects of worship dominate the religious landscape of South Asia and in what ways they are of significance not just from religious perspectives but also for the social life of the region The contributions to the book show how these objects are shaped by traditions of religious aesthetics and have become conceptual devices woven into webs of religious and social meaning They demonstrate how the objects have a social relationship with those who use them sometimes even treated as being alive The book discusses how devotees relate to such objects in a number of ways and even if the objects belong to various traditions they may attract people from different communities and can also be contested in various ways By analysing the specific qualities that make objects eligible for a status and identity as living objects of worship the book contributes to an understanding of the central significance of these objects in the religious and social life of South Asia It will be of interest to students and scholars of Religious Studies and South Asian Religion Culture and Society South Asian Religion and Society, 1986 South Asian Religion and Society Asko Parpola, Bent Smidt Hansen, 1986 South Asian Religions Karen Pechilis, Selva J. Although the presence of Asian religions is felt and discussed in many regions, we know little about the religions that accompanied immigrants from Asia or how they are practised today. Asian Religions in British Columbia brings together fourteen religious studies scholars who offer intimate portraits of local religious groups including Hindus and Sikhs from South Asia, Buddhist organizations from Southeast Asia, and Tibetan, Japanese, and Chinese religions from East and Central Asia. Although the geographical focus is particular, the conceptual focus is broad; the authors explore each religious tradition in the larger context of Canadian multiculturalism. As the first comprehensive and comparative examination of Asian religions in British Columbia, this book is mandatory reading for teachers, policy makers, scholars of British Columbia history and Asian Canadian studies, or anyone who wants to be well informed about this province and nation.
