The ^AAncient Highlands of Southwest China Alice Yao,2016-01-04 The Ancient Highlands of Southwest China offers a vivid account of the history of warrior polities occupying the southwestern frontiers of early China Placing the archaeology of the Dian and its Bronze Age neighbors in dialogue with anthropological theory Alice Yao shows how local histories of kingship come to challenge and resist imperial governance as well as the production of historiography Life in a Kam Village in Southwest China, 1930-1949 Chaoquan Ou,2007-10-31 Although this unique insider s account of minority life in China is clearly a book in itself it is also the sequel to the much acclaimed The Kam People of China Geary Ou and others 2003 It describes the hitherto scarcely researched culture of people from Xiangye village in an untravelled corner of Guizhou province Southwest China in the 20 years leading up to Liberation in 1949 Xiangye is a Kam Dong nationality village so the book highlights Kam culture of the 1930s and 1940s It is a fascinating and unparalleled study also offering exceptionally clear details of many aspects of material culture and social customs for example the work of rice farming cotton production and cooking beautifully illustrated with line drawings and photographs that should appeal to anyone interested in the Kam people China or in ethnology generally The author grew up in Xiangye and later became Professor of Anthropology at a university in Qinghai province The manuscript was first written in Chinese with the intention of having it translated into English for an outside readership Ethnicity and Religion in Southwest China He Ming,David Lewis,2020-12-22 As China strengthens its links with its neighbours through its Belt and Road initiative there is growing interest in the indigenous peoples of China s western and southwestern borderlands This book based on extensive original research considers the indigenous peoples of Yunnan province which is a major gateway between China and the countries of south and south east Asia Unlike many books on China s indigenous peoples which are written by foreigners who have lived for a while in China this book is comprised of the work of Chinese scholars many of them members of ethnic minorities themselves and considers the issues from a Chinese perspective The Lahu Minority in Southwest China Jianxiong Ma,2013-05-07 The Lahu with a population of around 470 000 inhabit the mountainous country in Yunnan Province bordering on Burma Laos and northern Thailand Buddhists with a long history of resistance to the Chinese Han majority the Lahu are currently facing a serious collapse of their traditional social system with the highest suicide rate in the world large scale human trafficking of their women alcoholism and poverty This book based on extensive original research including long term anthropological research among the Lahu provides an overview of the traditional way of life of the Lahu their social system culture and beliefs and discusses the ways in which these are changing It shows how the Lahu are especially vulnerable because of their lack of political representatives and a state educated elite which can engage with and be part of the government administrative system The Lahu are one of many relatively small ethnic minorities in China overall the book provides an example of how the Chinese government approaches these relatively small ethnic minorities Perspectives on the Yi of Southwest China Stevan Harrell,2001-03 This is a varied and wide ranging collection of essays by Yi and foreign scholars on the history traditional society and modern social changes among the 7 million Yi people of Southwest China The Political Economy of Hydropower in Southwest China and Beyond Jean-François Rousseau, Sabrina Habich-Sobiegalla, 2021-01-15 This book conceptualises the ongoing hydropower expansion in Southwest China as a socio political and transnational project transcending the construction of dams Chapters in this volume are organised around three sections spanning hydropower and resettlement governance rural livelihoods and international relations connected to China's hydropower expansion Dam projects of various scales are analysed as infrastructure projects that shape peoples livelihoods the environment and China's relations with Southeast Asia Africa and Latin America Ways of Being Ethnic in Southwest China Stevan

Harrell, 2012-11-20 Drawing on extensive fieldwork conducted in the 1980s and 1990s in southern Sichuan this pathbreaking study examines the nature of ethnic consciousness and ethnic relations among local communities focusing on the Nuosu classified as Yi by the Chinese government Prmi Naze and Han It argues that even within the same regional social system ethnic identity is formulated perceived and promoted differently by different communities at different times Ways of Being Ethnic in Southwest China exemplifies a model in which ethnic consciousness and ethnic relations consist of drawing boundaries between one's own group and others crossing those boundaries and promoting internal unity within a group Leaders and members of ethnic groups use commonalities and differences in history culture and kinship to promote internal unity and to strengthen or cross external boundaries Superimposed on the structure of competing and cooperating local groups is a state system of ethnic classification and administration members and leaders of local groups incorporate this system into their own ethnic consciousness co-opting or resisting it situationally The heart of the book consists of detailed case studies of three Nuosu village communities along with studies of Prmi and Naze communities smaller groups such as the Yala and Nasu and Han Chinese who live in minority areas These are followed by a synthesis that compares different configurations of ethnic identity in different communities and discusses the implications of these examples for our understanding of ethnicity and for the near future of China This lively description and analysis of the region's complex ethnic identities and relationships constitutes an original and important contribution to the study of ethnic identity Ways of Being Ethnic in Southwest China will be of interest to social scientists concerned with issues of ethnicity and state building transformed Dongchuan into one of the key outposts of the Qing dynasty a nexus of encounters between various groups competing for power and space The frontier landscape bears silent witness to the changes in its people s daily lives and in their memories and imaginations The literati officials itinerant merchants commoners and the indigenous people who lived there shaped and reshaped the local landscape by their physical efforts and cultural representations This book demonstrates how multiple landscape experiences developed among various people in dependencies conflicts and negotiations in the imperial frontier

Pre-Service Teacher Education and Induction in Southwest China Ju Huang,2018-09-12 This book is a narrative inquiry that focuses on four participating Chinese teacher candidates cross cultural learning in Canada and stories of induction in Southwest China Through the lens of three dimensional inquiry space and reciprocal learning in teacher education the author explores the influence of cross cultural experiences on the dissonance of pedagogies teacher student relationships socialization and beliefs about teaching and learning that interweave global and national curriculum boundaries The chapters provide insight into how Chinese beginning teachers struggle to voice and to socialize among a cacophony of past practices lived experiences and cross cultural experiences

Negotiating Rural Land Ownership in Southwest China Yi Wu,2016-08-31 Negotiating Rural Land Ownership in Southwest China offers the first comprehensive analysis of how China s current system of land ownership has evolved over the past six decades Based on extended fieldwork in Yunnan Province the author explores how the three major rural actors local governments village communities and rural households have contested and negotiated land rights at the grassroots level thereby transforming the structure of rural land ownership in the People s Republic of China At least two million rural settlements or natural villages are estimated to exist in China today Formed spontaneously out of settlement choices over extended periods of time these rural settlements are fundamentally different from the present day administrative villages imposed by the government from above Yi Wu s historical ethnography sheds light on such natural villages and their role in shaping the current land ownership system Drawing on local land disputes archival documents and rich local histories the author unveils their enduring social identities in both the Maoist and reform eras She pioneers the concept of bounded collectivism to describe what resulted from struggles between the Chinese state trying to establish collective land ownership and rural settlements seeking exclusive control over land resources within their traditional borders A particular contribution of this book is that it provides a nuanced understanding of how and why China s rural land ownership is changing in post Mao China Yi Wu uses village level data to show how local governments rural communities and rural households compete for use income and transfer rights in both agricultural production and the land market She demonstrates that the current rural land ownership system in China is not a static system imposed by the state from above but a constantly changing hybrid

The Burial Record of Prehistoric Liangshan in Southwest China Anke Hein,2016-12-13 This book proposes a new model and scheme of analysis for complex burial material and applies it to the prehistoric archaeological record of the Liangshan region in Southwest China that other archaeologists have commonly given a wide berth regarding it as too patchy too inhomogeneous and overall too unwieldy to work with The model treats burials as composite objects considering the various elements separately in their respective life histories The application of this approach to the rich and diverse archaeological record of the Liangshan region serves as a test of this new form of analysis This volume thus pursues two main aims to advance the understanding of the archaeology of the immediate study area which has been little examined and to present and test a new scheme of analysis that can be applied to other bodies of material

Corporate Conquests C. Patterson Giersch, 2020-04-07 Tenacious patterns of ethnic and economic inequality persist in the rural largely minority regions of China's north and southwest Such inequality is commonly attributed to geography access to resources and recent political developments In Corporate Conquests C. Patterson Giersch provides a desperately needed challenge to these conventional understandings by tracing the disempowerment of minority communities to the very beginnings of China's modern development Focusing on the emergence of private and state corporations in Yunnan Province during the late 1800s and early 1900s the book reveals how entrepreneurs centralized corporate power even as they expanded their businesses throughout the Southwest and into Tibet Southeast Asia and eastern China Bringing wealth and cosmopolitan lifestyles to their hometowns the merchant owners also gained greater access to commodities at the expense of the Southwest's many indigenous minority communities Meanwhile new concepts of development shaped the creation of state-run corporations which further concentrated resources in the hands of outsiders The book reveals how important new ideas and structures of power now central to the Communist Party's repertoire of rule and oppression were forged not along China's east coast but along the nation's internal borderlands It is a must read for anyone wishing to learn about China's unique state capitalism and its contribution to inequality

Mountain Rivers, Mountain Roads: Transport in Southwest China, 1700-1850 Nanny Kim, 2019-12-09 The commercialized economy of late imperial China depended on efficient transport yet transport technologies transport economics as well as its role in local societies and in interdependencies of environments and human activities are acutely under researched Nanny Kim analyses two transport systems into the Southwest of Qing China through the long eighteenth century and up to the mid nineteenth century civil wars The case studies explore shipping on the Upper Changjiang in Sichuan and through the Three Gorges into Hubei and road transport out of the Sichuan Basin across northeastern Yunnan and northwestern Guizhou into central Yunnan Specific and concrete investigations of a river that presented extreme dangers to navigation and carriage across the crunch zone of the Himalayan Plateau provides a basis for a systematic reconstruction of transport outside the lowland centres and their convenient networks of water transport
