Southeast Asia : nature, society, and development Shin'ichi Ichimura,1976 Japanese Contributions to Southeast Asian Studies ,1992 The Malay World of Southeast Asia Patricia Lim Pui Huen,1986 Over 5 000 entries arranged in four parts Part I comprises reference and general works to provide a guide to information on Southeast Asia Part II provides the setting of space and time Part III features the people and Part IV the many facets of culture and society language ideas beliefs values institutions creative expression and social and cultural change Within each section the arrangement is geographical beginning with Southeast Asia as a whole followed by the various countries in alphabetical order The Chinese [migr]s of Thailand in the Twentieth Century Disaphol Chansiri,2008 examines Thai Chinese relations dating back to the first Thai dynasty Sukhothai to the present Ratanakosin The study explores the Thai domestic policies that have affected the Chinese population since World War II and assimilation policies of the Thai government towards the Chinese This book also analyzes both Skinner s and Chan and Tong s arguments and their main idea in the context of the present day environment and situation for the ethnic Chinese This research supports the Skinnerian paradigm which asserts that a majority of the descendants of Chinese immigrants in each generation merge with Thai society and become indistinguishable from the indigenous population to the extent that fourth generation Chinese are practically non existent The validation of the Skinnerian paradigm rejects Chan and Tong s hypothesis which claims that Skinner has overemphasized the forces of assimilation and that the Chinese in Thailand have not assimilated but retained their Chinese identity To support Skinner s assertion and reject Chan and Tong s argument this book presents rich empirical data collected via surveys conducted with the ethnic Chinese in Thailand from 2003 2004 This study uncovers that the forces of assimilation occur at two levels On the first level the Chinese in Thailand possess natural attributes which facilitate social and cultural integration and assimilation into Thai society On the second level government pro assimilation policies driven by the bilateral relations between Thailand and China and the political situation in both countries are also responsible for the assimilation of the Chinese in Thailand As the most current in depth study on the Chinese in Thailand The Chinese migr s of Thailand in the Twentieth Century is a critical addition for all collections in Asian Studies as well as Ethnic and Immigrant Studies The Geography of Southeast Asia Thomas A. Rumney,2010-04-07 In The Geography of Southeast Asia Rumney discusses an area that has long been of interest to geographers and other academics As interest in Southeast Asia has grown particularly over the past forty years the volume and variety of scholarly publications on the varied geographical aspects of the region have also increased This collection is an attempt to identify organize and present as many of these works as possible The region as a whole and each individual country of the area are covered in individual chapters Each chapter is further systematically organized by topic including general works cultural social geography economic geography historical geography physical geography political geography and urban geography This book presents a myriad of sources such as atlases books chapters articles dissertations and theses are included as well as works written in English French German and other languages providing the reader with a thorough view of Southeast Asian geography The Social Evolution of Indonesia F. Tichelman, 2012-12-06 At a fairly early stage of socialism's penetration into the Afro Asian world a handful of European social democrats established an Indian Social Democratic Association ISDV They did so in a country Indonesia that was economically little developed and far away from any of the centres of European socialism and Asiatic radical nationalism The ISDV was soon able to bring its influence to bear on sections of the urban proletariat and to build up an Indonesian revolutionary movement This occurred in sharp competition with a nascent nationalist leadership and then without the usual intermediary role played by radicalizing groups of native intelligentsia In this way Dutch social democrats laid the foundations for one of the first communist parties in Asia and Africa a party which was destined to become one of the few communist mass parties of the Third World However in contrast to the major communist movements of China Vietnam this Indonesian party was to demonstrate a basic weakness successive and catastrophic defeats If we leave out Japan the only non Western country where a capitalist industrial revolution occurred we see that foreign and particularly Western minorities frequently did play a dominant role in the initial and formative phases of the socialist and workers movements of the Afro Asiatic world East & Southeast Asia University of Wisconsin--Madison.
