Souvenirs From High Places:

Souvenirs from High Places Joe Bensen, 1998 Concurrent with mountaineering's development began as a popular leisure time pursuit in the Alps and before climbing became the high tech intense sport it is today photography began its evolution into a favorite activity as well This parallel growth created the distinct genre of mountaineering photography As much a history of mountaineering as a history of photography Souvenirs from High Places offers a fascinating collection of images from both ground breaking photographers and amateur enthusiasts that demonstrate not only how much has changed but how much has remained the same Columbia River to Stevens Pass Fred Beckey, 2000-08-01 Comprehensive climbing approach route guides to Washington's Cascades Continental Divide Maurice Isserman, 2016-04-21 This magisterial and thrilling history argues that the story of American mountaineering is the story of America itself In Continental Divide Maurice Isserman tells the history of American mountaineering through four centuries of landmark climbs and first ascents Mountains were originally seen as obstacles to civilization over time they came to be viewed as places of redemption and renewal The White Mountains stirred the transcendentalists the Rockies and Sierras pulled explorers westward toward Manifest Destiny Yosemite inspired the early environmental conservationists Climbing began in North America as a pursuit for lone eccentrics but grew to become a mass participation sport Beginning with Darby Field in 1642 the first person to climb a mountain in North America Isserman describes the exploration and first ascents of the major American mountain ranges from the Appalachians to Alaska He also profiles the most important American mountaineers including such figures as John C Fremont John Muir Annie Peck Bradford Washburn Charlie Houston and Bob Bates relating their exploits both at home and abroad Isserman traces the evolving social cultural and political roles mountains played in shaping the country He describes how American mountaineers forged a brotherhood of the rope modeled on America's unique democratic self image that characterized climbing in the years leading up to and immediately following World War II And he underscores the impact of the postwar rucksack revolution including the advances in technique and style made by pioneering dirtbag rock climbers A magnificent deeply researched history Continental Divide tells a story of adventure and aspiration in the high peaks that makes a vivid case for the importance of mountains to American national identity The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2018-09-03 This new edition of The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies contains an updated and expanded selection of original chapters which explore research directions in an array of disciplines sharing a concern for landscape a term which has many uses and meanings It features 33 revised and or updated chapters and 14 entirely new chapters on topics such as the Anthropocene Indigenous landscapes challenging landscape Eurocentrism's photography and green infrastructure planning The volume is divided into four parts Experiencing landscape Landscape heritage and culture Landscape society and justice and Design and planning for landscape Collectively the book provides a critical review of the various fields related to the study of landscapes including the future development of conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as current empirical knowledge and understanding It encourages dialogue across disciplinary barriers and between academics and practitioners and reflects upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape The Companion provides a comprehensive and up to date guide to current thinking about landscapes and serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike

Forgotten Saint-Simonian Travelers in Egypt John David Ragan,2025-02-11 The paradoxes of nineteenth century colonialism in the Middle East revealed through the accounts of three working class European travelers to Egypt This book tells the stories of two French women and a French African man travelers connected to the Saint Simonian utopian socialists who came to work for the Egyptian government in the 1830s They have been marginalized and excluded from the historical record because they were women not part of the colonial elite or of mixed racial heritage This history brings them alive through extensive archival research and vibrant storytelling There is Suzanne Voilquin a practicing midwife in Cairo who was involved in left wing popular politics in Paris and became the editor of one of the first feminist newspapers ever published 1832-34 The second traveler Thomas Ismayl Urbain was born in French Guyana where his mother was born a slave and his father was a French sea captain Jehan d Ivray is the pen name of the third traveler a teenage woman who married an Egyptian studying medicine in France and traveled with him to Egypt in 1879 She wrote more than twenty books including a retrospective look at Suzanne Voilquin and women in the Saint Simonian movement bringing the story full circle to another generation Their stories brilliantly illustrate the paradoxes of nineteenth century colonialism in Egypt Suzanne Voilquin grew up in the Parisian working class and sympathized deeply with Egyptians but initially exoticized the differences between Egypt and her home country while Urbain a literary pioneer in black pride nevertheless joined the French army and saw his role in the colonial occupation as a means of helping indigenous people These characters transcend the neat binary of East and West and offer a rich nuanced window onto the experiences of French travelers in Egypt during the nineteenth century

Tourism Art and Souvenirs David Hume,2013-10-01 This book examines the relationship between art and tourism through the study of the material culture of tourism tourist art and souvenirs It thoroughly examines how to categorise the material culture of tourism within the discourses of contemporary art and cultural anthropology and demonstrates that tourist art is a unique expression of place and genuine artistic style The first investigation to consider the activity of souvenirs from both indigenous and settler tourist sites it brings a unique addition to the existing dated research in the area Working initially from Graburn's definition of tourist art as the art of one culture made specifically for the consumption of another Tourism Art and Souvenirs sheds light on important aspects of the souvenir that have not been widely discussed The most recent research is used to consider how the souvenir is designed and consumed consumer expectations and influence on the character of the souvenir how the souvenir maker is consumed by the tradition of heritage and how products become successful as souvenirs The title also investigates the language involved in the representation of place and the recording of experience through the souvenir developing a method that expresses the descriptive data of individual souvenir artefacts graphically so the patterns of language may be analysed Enhancing the understanding of material culture in tourism and therefore adding to future tourism development this volume will be of interest to upper level students researchers and academics in tourism culture heritage and sustainability
