Soviet Criticism of American Literature in the Sixties Carl R. Proffer,1972      Soviet Criticism of American Literature in the Sixties Carl R. Proffer,1972      The Absurd Hero in American Fiction David D. Galloway,2014-06-30

When The Absurd Hero in American Fiction was first released in 1966 Granville Hicks praised it in a lead article for the Saturday Review as a sensitive and definitive study of a new trend in postwar American literature In the years that followed David Galloway's analysis of the writings of John Updike William Styron Saul Bellow and J D Salinger became a standard critical work an indispensable tool for readers concerned with contemporary American literature The New York Times described the book as a seminal study of the modern literary imagination David Galloway himself an established novelist later extensively revised The Absurd Hero to include authoritative discussions of more than a dozen novels which had appeared since the first revised edition was released in 1970 Among them are John Updike's Couples Rabbit Redux and The Coup William Styron's The Confessions of Nat Turner and Sophie's Choice and Saul Bellow's Mr Sammler's Planet and Humboldt's Gift Through detailed analyses of these works Galloway demonstrates the continuing relevance of his own provocative concept of the absurd hero and provides important insights into the literary achievements of four of America's most influential postwar novelists

Post45 Vs. The World: Literary Perspectives on the Global Contemporary William G. Welty,2023-01-31 Much of the work done on the Post45 literary field carries an implicitly Americanist perspective Even the name of the field suggests a certain literary history with certain assumptions and blind spots about national spaces identities and histories But what would Post45 look like when considered from outside of the United States How do the current contours of the field exclude certain voices either in the United States or elsewhere in the world And how would such new perspectives shift the beginning and possible endpoint of that literary period What new narratives of the contemporary emerge if we begin telling the story in a different year or from a different national or global perspective This collection attempts to re frame the discussions in Post45 by engaging with non American writers texts and perspectives Additionally productive conversations emerge by attempting to think of canonical American writers like Mark Twain and Ishmael Reed from other national and global perspectives The authors consider both the ways texts themselves as well as their reception histories approach and challenge our understandings of the contemporary Ultimately the collection interrogates prevailing narratives of history culture identity and space within the Post45 field In so doing it re considers the historical periodization of the field which currently covers approximately 75 years of literary history The resulting essays thus work towards a new intertwined narrative about what defines the contemporary and how national and global literatures fit into that moment of world history

The Red Pencil Marianna Tax Choldin, Maurice Friedberg, 2024-11-26 The Red Pencil 1989 examines the many ways in which Soviet censorship interfered in the creative process in the words of those who experienced it first hand It helps to identify the ways in which Soviet artistic and intellectual production was shaped by the practices of Soviet censorship The book goes beyond the simple recounting of banned books and taboo subjects to examine the more subtle issue of how Soviet writers attempted to strike a balance between accommodating the demands of government censorship while retaining for themselves a modicum of unfettered expression and intellectual integrity Most of the contributing authors were active as writers critics editors film and theatre specialists or scientists prior to their departure from the Soviet Union in the 1970s

"All-Electric" Narratives Rachele Dini, 2021-10-07 Winner of the 2023 Emily Toth Award for Best Single Work in Women's Studies All Electric Narratives is the first in depth study of time saving electrical appliances in American literature It examines the literary depiction of refrigerators vacuum cleaners oven ranges washing machines dryers dishwashers toasters blenders standing and hand held mixers and microwave ovens between 1945 when the all electric home came to be associated with the nation's hard won victory and 2020 as contemporary writers consider the enduring material and spiritual effects of these objects in the 21st century The appropriation and subversion of the rhetoric of domestic electrification and time saving comprises a crucial but overlooked element in 20th century literary forms and genres including Beat literature Black American literature second wave feminist fiction science fiction and postmodernist fiction Through close readings of dozens of literary texts alongside print and television ads from this period Dini shows how U S writers have unearthed the paradoxes inherent to claims of appliances capacity to give back time to their user transport them into a technologically progressive future or return them to some pastoral past In so doing she reveals literary appliances role in raising questions about gender norms and sexuality racial exclusion and erasure class anxieties the ramifications of mechanization the perils and possibilities of conformity the limitations of patriotism and the inevitable fallacy of utopian thinking while both shaping and radically disrupting the literary forms in which they operated Salinger David Shields,Shane Salerno,2013-09-03 Based on eight years of exhaustive research and exclusive interviews with more than 200 people and published in coordination with the international theatrical release of a major documentary film from the Weinstein Company The Private War of J D Salinger is a global cultural event the definitive biography of one of the most beloved and mysterious figures of the twentieth century For more than fifty years the ever elusive author of The Catcher in the Rye has been the subject of a relentless stream of newspaper and magazine articles as well as several biographies Yet all of these attempts have been hampered by a fundamental lack of access and by the persistent recycling of inaccurate information Salinger remains astonishingly an enigma The complex and contradictory human being behind the myth has never been revealed No longer In the eight years since The Private War of J D Salinger was begun and especially in the three years since Salinger s death the authors interviewed on five continents more than 200 people many of whom had previously refused to go on the record about their relationship with Salinger This oral biography offers direct eyewitness accounts from Salinger s World War II brothers in arms his family members his close friends his lovers his classmates his neighbors his editors his publishers his New Yorker colleagues and people with whom he had relationships that were secret even to his own family Shields and Salerno illuminate most brightly the last fifty six years of Salinger s life a period that until now had remained completely dark to biographers Provided unprecedented access to never before published photographs more than 100 throughout the book diaries letters legal records and secret documents readers will feel they have for the first time gotten beyond Salinger s meticulously built up wall The result is the definitive portrait of one of the most fascinating figures of the twentieth century
