The Question of Class in Contemporary Latin American Cinema María Mercedes Vázquez Vázquez, 2020-07-06 The Question of Class in Contemporary Latin American Cinema responds to the renewed interest in class within and outside academia by examining the aesthetics and politics of class in a representative selection of films from the contemporary cinemas of Venezuela Cuba Mexico Brazil and Argentina It explores the relationship of cinematic practices to conflicting socio political transformations taking place in these five countries such as the intensification of neoliberalism the Turn to the Left and the growth of the middle classes in the period from 2003 to 2015 Utilizing a critical comparative method it sheds a critical light on the presumed depoliticization or new aestheticized politicization of contemporary Latin American cinema The combined textual and industrial analyses of films from strikingly different cinemas and directors through the lenses of class allows for a contextualization of this trend and the observation of its limitations Furthermore this book distinguishes cinematic figurations that correspond to new conceptualizations of class introduced in social studies from figurations of class that have yet to be conceptualized

Only in the Common People Paul Long, 2008-12-18 corrupt and moronic though the common people are seemingly becoming only in the common people can the true work be rooted the true tradition rediscovered and re informed Charles Parker BBC Radio Producer 1959 In 1958 in his best selling book Culture and Society Raymond Williams identified working class culture as a key issue in our own time Why this happened and how this subject was thought about and acted upon is the focus of this book Paul Long investigates a variety of projects and practices that were designed to describe validate reclaim rejuvenate or generate authentic working class culture as part of the re imagining of Britishness in the context of the post war settlement Detailed case studies cover the wartime cultural activities of CEMA the forerunner of the Arts Council the Folk Revival the impact of Richard Hoggart's The Uses of Literacy broadcasting and the radio work of Charles Parker Ewan MacColl and Peggy Seeger the roots of modern arts festivals in Arnold Wesker's Centre 42 project as well as the impact of progressive education on children's writing and the politics of the English language Only in the Common People The Aesthetics of Class in Post War Britain examines the assumptions idealism and prejudices behind these projects and the terms of class as the preoccupation of a generation This approach offers a historicisation of the broader ideas and debates that informed the development of the New Left and British social history and cultural theory offering an understanding of the rise of respect for the common man

Film as a Radical Pedagogic Tool

Deirdre O'Neill, 2017-11-22 Emerging from Inside Film a project that helps prisoners and people on probation make their own films this book discusses the need for working class people to represent themselves and challenge mainstream stereotypes and assumptions about them This project gave prisoners and parolees the technical skills necessary to make their own films and tell their own stories in order to counter the ways they have been misrepresented The author demonstrates that film and television are key means by which socioeconomically marginalized groups are classified according to hegemonic norms as well as the ways such groups can undermine these misrepresentations through their use of the media As a theoretical reflection on the Inside Film project and the relationship between filmmaking and education this book explores what radical pedagogy looks like in action

Hard Hats, Rednecks, and Macho Men Derek Nystrom, 2009-10-21 Everywhere you look in 1970s American cinema you find white working class men The persistent appearance of working class characters in these and other films of the 1970s reveals the powerful role class played in the key social and political developments of the decade

Historical Dictionary of Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2010-03-19 Film noir literally black cinema is the label customarily given to a group of black and white American films mostly crime thrillers made between 1940 and 1959 Today there is considerable dispute about what are the shared features that classify a noir film and therefore which films should be included in this category These problems are partly caused because film noir is a retrospective label that was not used in the 1940s or 1950s by the film industry as a production category and therefore its existence and features cannot be established through reference to trade documents The Historical Dictionary of Film Noir is a comprehensive guide that ranges from 1940 to present day neo noir It consists of a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography a filmography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on every aspect of film noir and neo noir including key films personnel actors cinematographers composers directors producers set designers and writers themes issues influences visual style cycles of films e g amnesiac noirs the representation of the city and gender other forms comics graphic novels television and videogames and noir s presence in world cinema It is an essential reference work for all those interested in this important cultural phenomenon

Screening the Crisis Hilaria Loyo, Juan A. Tarancón, 2022-07-14 The financial collapse of 2008 extended and deepened a prolonged multilayered crisis that has transformed often in unexpected ways how we think about all aspects of social life Amid these turbulent times film studies scholars have begun to ask new questions and create fresh strategies in order to integrate intellectual and political work in ways that directly address our current predicament This timely volume reconsiders the relationships between cinema and society at a time when neoliberal policies threaten not only civic culture but also nearly every aspect of human life Screening the Crisis brings together established authors as well as brilliant young scholars in the field of film studies to explore the ways in which new tendencies in US cinema enhance awareness of the complexity of the problems facing contemporary society The issues addressed include economic inequality shifts in gender roles racial conflicts immigration surveillance practices the environmental crisis the politics of housing and the fragility of nationhood These questions are explored through in depth studies and contextualized analyses of a wide variety of recent films genres and filmmakers With its ample range of topics and perspectives this collection provides an essential reference work for those who want to research how US cinema has responded to the manifold interconnected crises that characterize our current times

Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2018-10-08 Film Noir is an overview of an often celebrated but also contested body of films It discusses film noir as a cultural phenomenon whose history is more extensive and diverse than American black and white crime thrillers of the forties An extended Background Chapter situates film noir within its cultural context describing its origin in German Expressionism French Poetic Realism and in developments within American genres the gangster crime thriller horror and the Gothic romance and its possible relationship to changes in American society Five chapters are devoted to classic film noir 1940-59 chapters explore its contexts of production and reception its visual style and its narrative patterns and themes chapters on character types and star performances elucidate noir's complex construction of gender with its weak ambivalent males and predatory femmes fatales and also provide a detailed analysis of three noir auteurs Anthony Mann Robert Siodmak and Fritz Lang Three chapters investigate neo noir and British film noir chapters trace the complex evolution of neo noir in American cinema from the modernist critiques of Night Moves and Taxi Driver to the postmodern hybridity of contemporary noir including Seven Pulp Fiction and Memento the final chapter surveys the development of British film noir a significant and virtually unknown cinema stretching from the thirties to Mike Hodges Croupier Films discussed include both little known examples and seminal works such as Double Indemnity Scarlet Street Kiss Me Deadly and Touch of Evil A final section provides a guide to further reading an extensive bibliography and a list of over 500 films referred to in the text Lucidly written Film Noir is an accessible informative and stimulating introduction that will have a broad appeal to undergraduates cinema film teachers and researchers
