Sourcebook of Family Theories and Methods Pauline Boss, William J. Doherty, Ralph LaRossa, Walter R. Schumm, Suzanne K. Steinmetz, 2008-11-19 Origins We call this book on theoretical orientations and methodological strategies in family studies a sourcebook because it details the social and personal roots i.e. sources from which these orientations and strategies flow. Thus an appropriate way to preface this book is to talk first of its roots its beginnings. In the mid 1980s there emerged in some quarters the sense that it was time for family studies to take stock of itself. A goal was thus set to write a book that like Janus would face both backward and forward a book that would give readers both a perspective on the past and a map for the future. There were precedents for such a project. The Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Harold Christensen and published in 1964 the two Contemporary Theories about the Family volumes edited by Wesley Burr Reuben Hill F. Ivan Nye and Ira Reiss published in 1979 and the Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Marvin Sussman and Suzanne Steinmetz then in production. Sourcebook of Marriage and Family Evaluation Luciano L'Abate, 1993 Handbook of Marriage and the Family Gary W. Peterson, Kevin R. Bush, 2012-09-14 The third edition of Handbook of Marriage and the Family describes analyzes synthesizes and critiques the current research and theory about family relationships family structural variations and the role of families in society. This updated Handbook provides the most comprehensive state of the art assessment of the existing knowledge of family life with particular attention to variations due to gender socioeconomic race ethnic cultural and life style diversity. The Handbook also aims to provide the best synthesis of our existing scholarship on families that will be a primary source for scholars and professionals but also serve as the primary graduate text for graduate courses on family relationships and the roles of families in society. In addition the involvement of chapter authors from a variety of fields including family psychology family sociology child development family studies public health and family therapy gives the Handbook a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary framework. Sourcebook of Psychological Treatment Manuals for Adult Disorders Michel Hersen, Vincent B. Van Hasselt, 2013-11-11 Here is a practical reference offering mental health professionals 16 state of the art methods for treating a variety of problems presented by outpatient and inpatient adult clients. Supported by ample clinical illustrations each chapter offers sufficient information so that the respective methods can be replicated. Problems include obsessive compulsive disorder depression schizophrenia and obesity. The book also examines contemporary issues of accountability in treatment. This handbook meets the needs of psychologists psychiatrists counselors social workers rehabilitation specialists and graduate students. Handbook of Marriage and the Family Marvin B. Sussman, Suzanne K. Steinmetz, Gary W. Peterson, 2013-06-29 To know where we are going as scholars educators and practitioners in the field of marriage and family life we first need to know where we have been. A perusal of early texts on marriage and family life provides some thought provoking insights into the accuracy of the saying what goes around comes around It is interesting to note who has been considered to be in a position to provide information on marriage and family life Included in the eclectic collection of texts we reviewed were ministers whose focus was on spirituality doctors who emphasized medical aspects of child and adult health and public health professionals and home economists concerned with fighting disease who emphasized cleanliness order fighting germs and eliminating rodents and insects There are also philosophers who drew from ancient texts when discussing family life and a count who assembled a group of German intellectual elites to address various topics An insightful essay of this type is by Marta Karlweis 1926 in which she notes There is no other fetish that society holds to so firmly as the conception woman with all its usual associations of infantilism and dependence The child requires protection is a minor and consequently a serf but above all it possesses no spiritual existence Neither doctorates or other distinctions nor the right to vote have as yet been able to dispel this sweet idea of the childishness of woman which man cherishes p

Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research Vern L. Bengtson, 2005
Now available in paperback for classroom use This comprehensive text provides a rich source of perspectives on theorising about the family for scholars researchers and students Another of the book's strengths is the emphasis on multimethod approaches in family research The book covers an impressive range of topics and issues marital happiness adjustment of children in divorce marriages gay marriage sibling ties ethnic families of colour stepfamilies aggression culture work and family religion and social policy to name a few In summary this superb volume is highly recommended and amply reflects the many contemporary perspectives on the family Philip Siebler Monash University Victoria Sponsored by the National Council on Family Relations the Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research is the reference work on theory and methods for family scholars and students around the world This volume provides a diverse eclectic and paradoxically mature approach to theorizing and demonstrates how the development of theory is crucial to the future of family research The Sourcebook reflects an interactive approach that focuses on the process of theory building and designing research thereby engaging readers in doing theory rather than simply reading about it An accompanying website offers additional participation and interaction in the process of doing theory and making science Editors Vern L Bengtson Alan C Acock Katherine R Allen Peggye Dilworth Anderson and David M Klein have brought together a prominent group of diverse contributors ranging in race and ethnicity age and seniority and gender and sexual orientation The Sourcebook begins with a section that sets the context for future family research The subsequent sections explore changing family patterns changing family interactions within and across generations and families and larger social forces A concluding section discusses issues of teaching family theories and research Key Features Focuses on the process rather than the outcomes of family theory and research methods Emphasizes the value of multi methods approaches in family research by integrating theory development with the development of research methods Differs from many other publications on family research by describing the development of new ideas rather than just summarizing existing findings The interactive Web site and the special feature boxes within the chapters engage readers with theory and methodology Boxed features include Case Studies Spotlights on Theory Spotlights on Methods and a Discussion and Extension sections Represents a Who's Who of family researchers with contributions from many of the best researchers in the family realm The Sourcebook will be an excellent addition to any academic library It is an authoritative reference for scholars and researchers in Human Development and Family Studies Sociology Social Work and Psychology In addition the Sourcebook can also be used in graduate courses on family theory and methodology

Families, Social Services, and Social Policy Robert Moroney, 1980 Married, Etc Roberta Suid, 1976-01-01 Shared Responsibility Robert Moroney, One of the fundamental issues confronting those who create analyze or work within the framework of modern American social welfare policy is the relationship of the family and the state in the delivery of social care through social services Dr Moroney develops the idea of the family as both recipient and dispenser of social services Simply and effectively he paints the landscape with respect to American families He focuses on two special cases families with frail elderly and families with severely mentally handicapped children The notion of shared responsibility between the family and state the nature of social welfare response through government programs and the professional response of social workers to families in need and some of the dilemmas inherent in formulating family policy in a multicultural pluralistic society are examined Marriage and Family Assessment Erik E.
