Patterson, 2018-01-18 This edited volume analyzes African state responses to the AIDS epidemic Institutionally weak limited in resources and lacking power in the international system the African state has been characterized as inefficient corrupt and illegitimate The volume questions how aspects of the African state have affected policy responses to AIDS It highlights how African states must initiate develop and or implement the long term policy solutions necessary to combat AIDS It employs empirical studies from the international and national arena to illustrate why some African states have been able and willing to address AIDS while others have not Contributions analyze how international actors civil society organizations state ideology patriarchy and state capacity have influenced policies to fight AIDS Examining AIDS policies through the prism of African state development and linkages to domestic and international actors this book provides a nuanced understanding of the variety of responses to AIDS in Africa Minority Protection in Post-Apartheid South Africa Kristin Henrard, 2002-08-30 Accommodation of population diversity is a vital issue for any multinational society The legacy of Apartheid in South Africa complicates this effort considerably Henrard introduces a theoretical framework regarding how to accommodate minority protection in the most appropriate way and analyzes the respective contributions of individual rights minority rights and the right to self determination Subsequent chapters examine the case study of post apartheid South Africa and attempt to investigate its constitutional development Henrard finds that provisions within the 1996 Constitution do acknowledge an interrelation between these three important factors however implementation of minority protection policy is often quite a different matter In seeking appropriate means of minority protection this study stresses inclusionism integration and the essential right to identity and real equality While Henrard reviews and discusses the entire democratic transformation process in South Africa she cautions that because current developments are characterized by their unsettled nature major transformation and flux analysis of the implementation phase can be only indicative The apartheid history does not in itself inhibit progressive stances on this important issue Still despite the promising nature of the 1996 Constitution the picture that emerges in terms of policy development aimed at minority protection is ambivalent , The Political Management of HIV and AIDS in South Africa P. Fourie,2006-07-12 This book analyzes successive governments management of the AIDS epidemic in South Africa The book covers the years 1982 2005 using expert thinking regarding public policy making to identify gaps in the public sector s handling of the epidemic It highlights critical lessons for policy makers and other public health managers South Africa and the Case for Renegotiating the Peace Pierre du Toit,2016-11-11 South Africa is awash with policy failures and policy confusion We argue firstly that our current discord over policy details has its origin in the celebrated negotiated transition We hold that the vote count of an 85% majority in the Constituent Assembly in 1996 obscured the reality that the Constitution meant different things to different negotiators The result was that South Africa from the very start of the democratic era lacked a national consensus on how to go about consolidating democracy We keep on failing to build a proper roof over our democracy because the constitutional foundations are weak The Blackwell Companion to Medical Sociology William C. The Globalization of Supermax

Prisons Jeffrey Ian Ross, 2013-02-10 Supermax prisons conceived by the United States in the early 1980s are typically reserved for convicted political criminals such as terrorists and spies and for other inmates who are considered to pose a serious ongoing threat to the wider community to the security of correctional institutions or to the safety of other inmates Prisoners are usually restricted to their cells for up to twenty three hours a day and typically have minimal contact with other inmates and correctional staff Not only does the Federal Bureau of Prisons operate one of these facilities but almost every state has either a supermax wing or stand alone supermax prison The Globalization of Supermax Prisons examines why nine advanced industrialized countries have adopted the supermax prototype paying particular attention to the economic social and political processes that have affected each state Featuring essays that look at the U S run prisons of Abu Ghraib and Guantanamo this collection seeks to determine if the American model is the basis for the establishment of these facilities and considers such issues as the support or opposition to the building of a supermax and why opposition efforts failed the allegation of human rights abuses within these prisons and the extent to which the decision to build a supermax was influenced by developments in the United States Additionally contributors address such domestic matters as the role of crime rates media sensationalism and terrorism in each country s decision to build a supermax prison Fertility ,2003 Based on the 2002 conference Fertility The Current South African Issues of Poverty HIV AIDS and Youth emanating from the partnership between the Department of Social Development the South African Regional Poverty Network SARPN and the Human Sciences Research Council HSRC this book examines the underlying link between fertility and socio economic development The complex features in the current fertility trends in post apartheid South Africa are examined including the demographic fertility profile of South Africa s population determinants of fertility related behaviours such as sexual initiation in the context of AIDS contraceptive use and the broader regional fertility issues
